DESIGNED FOR WINGLESS FLIGHT

The dolphin-shaped SV-5P PILOT, standing for Piloted Lowspeed Test, is expected to steal the spotlight at the annual three-day meeting of the Air Force Assn., beginning tomorrow in Washington, D.C. The plane, due for flight tests early next year, is being built by the Martin Co. in Baltimore, Md. It's supposed to fly because the whole body is a lifting structure.

Sweat-Fogged Visor Shortens Space Walk

Astronaut Gets Ride On Agena

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Astronaut Richard F. Gordon cut his planned 115-minute working walk in half today because he got "so hot and sweaty" he couldn't see.

Command Pilot Charles (Pete) Conrad ordered Gordon in early from America's fourth walk in space, which was designed to test how well men can work in the void.

"I just brought Dick back in," Conrad reported. "He got so hot and sweaty he couldn't see."

In addition to the spacewalk, Gemini 11 is scheduled to shoot to a space altitude record of 865 miles at 3:15 a.m. EDT tomorrow. Gordon will do a 90-minute space "stand" in the open hatch at 8:42 a.m. tomorrow.

Gemini 11 will splash down at 9:46 a.m. EDT Thursday in the Atlantic 725 miles east of Cape Kennedy.

THIRD TROUBLE

It was the third straight spacewalk that failed to accomplish all planned experiments.

Gemini 10 Astronaut Michael Collins was forced to cut short his spacewalk in July because of irritating fumes in his breathing system. Gemini 9 spacewalker Eugene Cernan was forced to eliminate some tests because his helmet visor fogged up.

REACHED AGENA

But Gordon did manage to get over to the Agena rocket to which the Gemini 11 spacecraft was docked and, "riding it like a cowboy," attach a tether between it and the Gemini craft.

It will be used later for a unique station-keeping experiment with the two satellites linked by the 100-foot line.

Gordon climbed out of the spacecraft a few minutes after the hatch was opened at 10:44 a.m. EDT. His labored breating booming across the radio channel to earth, he made his way to the Agena.

'LIKE COWBOY'

"I'm riding it like a cowboy," he told Conrad.

After the early end to the spacewalk, ground communicator John W. Young —pilot on the last spacewalk to be cut short —radioed up to Goron from the manned spacecraft center at Houston:

"I know how it is —when you get to where you can't see, you've got to close the lid."

Gordon carried with him a power tool with which he planned to turn some experimental bolts on the Gemini, and he also had planned to see if he could clean off the Gemini's smudged windows.

It was the second time a power tool had been carried aloft in a Gemini spacecraft and not used.

The first power tool experi-

President's Wife To Unveil Metal Plaque In Ceremony

Lady Bird Johnson is to arrive at Hamilton Air Force Base in a government plane next Tuesday afternoon, then fly by helicopter to Drake's Beach, where she will dedicate the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Details of the Bay Area portion of the First Lady's four-day visit to California were announced today by the National Park Service.

The schedule calls for arrival at Hamilton at 3:30 p.m. Base officials said it had not yet been decided whether the public will be admitted to watch Mrs. Johnson's arrival.

On the helicopter flight to the seashore, Mrs. Johnson will be accompanied by Gov. and Mrs. Edmund G. Brown. Also accompanying her throughout a four-day "beautification tour" will be Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Stewart L. Udall.

Leslie Arnberger, superintendent of Point Reyes National Seashore, said today the formal dedication will take place at Drake's Beach at 4 p.m. Mrs. Johnson will unveil a metal plaque at the historic beach where Sir Francis Drake and his crew are believed to have careened the Golden Hind more than three centuries ago.

Helicopter to Point Reyes

Thousands of visitors are expected to throng the seashore that day. Arnberger said the Secret Service is working with the county sheriff's department and California Highway Patrol on plans for controlling traffic on the seashore's narrow roads.

Arnberger said the chances for good weather next Tuesday "are increasingly good." It was breezy and cool at Drake's Beach today, he said, but late September is traditionally the best weather in the Point Reyes area.

After the dedication ceremony, Mrs. Johnson and her party will fly by helicopter to San Francisco, where she will attend the San Francisco Opera Assn.'s opening performance.

This will be the first time in the San Francisco Opera's 44-year history that a member of the President's family ever attended an opening.

She will see the performance of Bellini's "I Puritani," occupying the Golden Horseshoe box of Robert Watt Miller, president of the opera association, along with Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Edmund G. Brown. The Udalls will occupy an adjoining box.

Also in the First Lady's party will be Mr. and Mrs. Roger Stevens. Stevens is chairman of the National Council on the Arts, which recently allocated $105,000 to the San Francisco Opera to stage performances in schools, neighborhoods and small communities.

Dedication of Point Reyes National Seashore by Secretary Udall had been scheduled shortly after the federal government took over the first acreage for its addition to the national parks system, but the plan was changed at the last minute.

Fairfax Urged To Build New Civic Center

By FRANK FARRARA

City Administrator David J. Sumbardo recommended last night that Fairfax construct a new civic center housing police and fire departments and administrative offices.

He estimated that the center would cost $424,336 and would meet the city's space needs to 1990.

Financing could be either by bond issue or through a leasing arrangement, he noted in a 32-page "Building Space Analysis Report," submitted to the Fairfax City Council.

Councilmen did not discuss the report, but decided to have a special session on it at 8 p.m. Sept. 26.

Sumbardo reported existing facilities are inadequate, particularly in the fire station, which was constructed in 1926.

"The truck room floor is the most serious problem at the present time," he said. "A recent study by a termite inspection company indicated that the floor was in dangerous condition of collapsing."

The electrical and heating systems at the fire station are deficient, and proximity of the building to the street make it dangerous he said.

Overall a space problem exists and should be alleviated as soon as possible, Sumbardo said.

"The city government's image to the public is affected in a

Auto Ends Life Lived In Danger

TEHACHAPI (AP) — Joaquin M. Sanchez, a rodeo clown who faced thousands of infuriated bulls in his 20-year career, fell victim to an automobile Monday night.

Sanchez, 43, of Bakersfield, was killed while walking across Highway 58 inside Tehachapi's city limits.

Police said he had parked his pickup truck and horse trailer and was crossing to a cafe when struck down by a car driven by Jesus Quesada, 57, of Monolith.

Sanchez had performed in rodeos throughout the country, particularly in the West, in a role which provides entertainment for spectators but distracts the attention of bulls to permit thrown riders to escape.

He also had done television and motion picture stunt work.

Subsidy Proposed To Lure New U.C. Campus To Marin

Subsidies by the County of Marin and/or its cities may be needed to induce the University of California to locate a campus in Marin.

That word came today from co-chairmen who are working for a U.C. Campus in the county: Byron W. Leydecker, chairman of the county board of supervisors, and Jack Craemer, editor of the Independent-Journal.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen wanted to know if cash subsidy toward purchase of land for the university would be required.

"I can't answer that," said Craemer. "But it may be possible that if the county wants it badly enough, we may have to go to that."

"There is no question that the regents of the university are hard-headed businessmen," added Leydecker.

Leydecker and Craemer pointed out that other counties are offering various inducements to encourage the university regents to consider their areas, and suggested Marin may have to match those inducements.

Leydecker announced that a report on possible campus locations in Marin County will be sent to the university this weekend, but said the sites will not be publicized because such publicity might hinder negotiations for land.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr suggested the possibility that a part of the Point Reyes National Seashore might be suitable for a University campus, particularly the "private sector" that the National Park Service has advocated as part of the overall Point Reyes seashore financing program.

A letter was also received today from San Anselmo resident Joseph Q. Riznik, suggesting a U.C. campus site at the Point Reyes seashore.

"I propose federal cooperation be discussed with the wife of the President of the United States during her forthcoming Marin visit," wrote Riznik.

Supervisor Behr said he had not been aware of Riznik's letter when he suggested the seashore site.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer agreed that Behr's proposal might offer an "excellent solution."

Supervisor William Gnoss commented: "I know of several good sites in North Marin." He asked for thorough studies in that area.

Leydecker assured Gnoss that several sites will be suggested in the report to the regents.

Giants Rehire Franks As Manager For '67 Season With Boost In Pay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Manager Herman Franks, who has the San Francisco Giants in the thick of the National league baseball pennant race, was rehired Tuesday for the 1967 season at a boost in pay.

President Horace C. Stoneham announced the contract renewal for the 51-year-old manager. terms were not revealed, but Stoneham said there way a pay increase. This would put Franks in the $40,000 pay bracket.

All the current coaches will be retained for the 1967 season —Charley Fox, Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto, and Larry Jansen.

Pitching coach Jansen now is disabled because of a heart attack last month, but is reported recovering nicely and "It is the hope and expectation that he will be able to return to active duty next spring."

As Franks' new contract was announced, the Giants were in third place, 2½ games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers. A year ago, in Franks' first season piloting the club, San Francisco finished second to the Dodgers, two games behind.

"We all think Herman Franks has done a splendid job as manager of the Giants," Stoneham said, in making his announcement.

Franks has been given much credit for strategies which have kept the Giants close to or at the top this season, even though their hitting average has been at or near the bottom among clubs in the National League.

A former catcher, Franks was a coach with the Giants in 1958 during their first season in San Francisco, having coached the club previously in New York.

After two years as general manager of a Salt Lake City entry in the Pacific Coast League, Franks quit baseball to devote his time to his business interests in Salt Lake City.

Wealthy in his own right, he agreed to coach the Giants again in 1964. When Alvin Dark's contract as manager was not renewed, he was elevated to field director.

A Franks policy has been to rest Willie Mays whenever it was deemed necessary to get the maximum performance from the 35-year-old star.

Bridge Traffic To Be Halted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Traffic across the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge will be halted in both directions for 20 minutes Thursday morning.

Bridge officials said the stoppage is necessary to allow Pacific Gas & Electric Co. to put a power line across the approach near the toll plaza.

Traffic will be halted from 3:30 a.m. to 3:50 a.m. Vehicles will, however, have access to the Oakland Army Base.

Lynda Bird Plans Hawaii Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP)— Lynda Bird Johnson, older daughter of the President, is flying to Hawaii tomorrow, for a brief vacation.

The White House said she will be accompanied by three Texas friends, Mr. and Mrs. Pen Batson of Amarillo and their son Joe, a student at the University of Texas.

The White House said Miss Johnson plans to stay in the islands several days, but since her trip is a private one, her itinerary is not being announced.

The President's daughter last visited Hawaii in June 1964.

Newsmen Again Targets of White Crowds Protesting Grenada School Integration

GRENADA, Miss. (AP)—Protected by 50 Mississippi highway patrolmen in riot gear, Negro pupils entered newly desegregated schools here for the second day today without apparent difficulty. More than 100 white adults clustered in the area jeering.

The whites, who beat Negro students and newsmen yesterday and threatened others, turned on newsmen again today.

A window of one man's car was smashed on the street outside the school by the angry whites. Other cars were rocked and kicked. A white man, mistaken for a reporter, was beaten to the ground as he talked with Constable Grady Carroll.

The man, identified as Henry Aaranson, a lawyer for the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, his head bloody, was led away by officers.

"You better get the hell out of here right now," white toughs yelled at AP photographer Jack Thornell. "We ain't going to have no picture taking here for that Yankee press."

The patrolmen, part of a force of 175 sent into this tense north Mississippi town last night, had orders to protect the Negroes. About 100 Negro pupils desegregated the schools yesterday under federal court order.

U.S. Bombers Set Records For North Viet Air Raids

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON, South Viet Nam—Waves of American bombers pounded North Viet Nam yesterday in the biggest aerial assault of the war, the U.S. command announced today.

It was the second day in a row that U.S. planes mounted record raids, and pilots claimed inflicting damage on four surface-to-air missile sites and blowing up two Soviet-made missiles.

American airmen flew 170 mission in all. This was one mission below the record set on Sunday but a U.S. military spokesman said the number of sorties (individual strikes) exceeded Sunday's by one.

Ground action continued to lag. U.S. military headquarters reported no significant action. South Vietnamese headquarters reported two brisk engagements but none of large scale.

In other developments, the U.S. military command issued orders to limit the number of American servicemen in downtown Saigon. Under the new order only a third of the men in any unit may receive passes allowing them to be out of their billets after working hours, and they must be off the streets by 11 p.m.

Navy Blocks Extradition Of Sidbeck

Marin County officials today ran into a military roadblock delaying return of 18-year-old Robert Dean Sidbeck from a Marine Corps station in Tennessee to stand trial for the murders of Mr. and Mrs. Everett F. Zimmerman.

Even as military red tape delayed Sidbeck's return, a new clue turned up in the case — the purse of Mrs. Zimmerman.

Sheriff's officers belatedly disclosed discovery of the purse, another link in the chain of circumstantial evidence in the case. It was found by someone in San Francisco, and turned in at the San Francisco Post Office's lost and found department.

The purse contained Mrs. Zimmerman's driving license and fishing license, with the Petaluma postal route address of the Zimmerman farm home on San Antonio Creek Road in far north Marin County. The San Francisco Post Office therefore returned it to the Petaluma Post Office. Nelson Smith, Petaluma postmaster, recognized the name and notified police, who in turn called the Marin sheriff's office Saturday.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos said there was no money in the purse. Whether there had been,

Minnesota Holds Primary Spotlight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Karl Rolvaag of Minnesota, denied endorsement for renomination by the state Democratic-Farmer-Labor convention, tries for a primary election vindication from the voters today.

In Massachusetts, Democrats settle a pair of hot contests over nominations for governor and senator.

Eleven states are holding primaries in the year's busiest day for ballot boxes except for Nov. 8 when all 435 members of the House, 35 senators and 35 governors will be elected.

Other states conducting primaries are Arizona, Colorado, Maryland, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont and Wisconsin.

Rolvaag's primary opponent, endorsed by the convention, is Lt. Gov. A. M. (Sandy) Keith, 37.

In Massachusetts, Edward J. McCormack former attorney general, contends with Kenneth P. O'Donnell, once an aide to President John F. Kennedy, for the Democratic nomination for governor. McCormack, a nephew of House Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., was endorsed by the state party convention.

Former Gov. Endicott Peabody, endorsed for the Senate nomination, is opposed by Mayor John F. Collins of Boston and Thomas B. Adams, a Boston businessman.

Of the 11 states, nine elect governors this year. Republican Govs. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts, John A. Love of Colorado, John H. Chafee of Rhode Island and Warren P. Knowles of Wisconsin are unopposed for renomination.

Democratic Govs. Philip Hoff of Vermont and John W. King of New Hampshire also have no primary opposition. Democratic Gov. Sam Goddard of Arizona, like Rolvaag, is involved in a primary contest.

In Maryland, there are eight bidders for the Democratic nomination to succeed retiring Democratic Gov. J. Millard Tawes.

Apparent front runners are Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan and Rep. Carlton R. Sickles. Spiro T. Agnew, Baltimore County executive, appears sure of Republican nomination in a field of five.

Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey and David Carley, national committeeman, clash in Wisconsin for the Democratic nomination against Knowles.

New Hampshire has a six-way contest for the Republican nomination against King, and there is also a Republican primary in Vermont for the right to battle Hoff in the election.

Among senators running for re-election, Republicans Clifford P. Case of New Jersey and Gordon Allott of Colorado, and Democrats Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island and Thomas H. McIntyre of New Hampshire are without primary opposition. Democratic Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota has nominal opposition.

The Massachusetts Senate seat to be filled this year is now held by Republican Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, who is retiring.

Edward W. Brooke, state attorney general, has no opposition for Republican nomination.

Lt. Col. Ruth Briggs, a retired WAC, is bidding for the Republican nomination in Rhode Island against Pell.

South Africa Picks New Leader

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—Justice Minister Balthazar Vorster was chosen today to become South Africa's seventh prime minister, succeeding Hendrik Verwoerd, who was assassinated a week ago.

Vorster

Vorster was elected unanimously as national leader of the ruling Nationalist party at a full meeting of the party caucus in Capt Town's Parliament building, only a short distance away from the chamber in which Verwoerd was stabbed to death.

The party's unanimous choice, obviating a vote between contending candidates, was seen as indication of their resolve to choose a strongman leader, resolute in pursuing its apartheid (race) segregation policies without deviating from Verwoerd's race line.

$1 Billion Set For Arms Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) President Johnson has signed into law the $1,005,842,000 military construction bill.

But he said he would seek revision of a provision requiring the administration to notify Congress before closing a military base "if future circumstances prove it to be inimical to the national interest."

The new bill changes the advance notice requirement to 30 congressional session days. Johnson said this is in effect a flat bar against otherwise desirable base closings.

Syria Accuses Jordan in Revolt

CAIRO (AP) — Syrian Foreign Minister Ibraham Mauhos charged today that Jordan was behind last week's unsuccessful attempt to overthrow the Syrian government. He added that the United States and Saudi Arabia had financed the venture.

In an interview with the Cairo paper Al Ahram, Mauhos said Jordan had clearly shown its hand by granting asylum to Maj. Selim Hatoum and others who took part in the coup attempt.

Mauhos is in Cairo to attend the Arab League foreign ministers meeting.

Call Denies All Complicity In Wilson Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Defendant Norman Call has denied having anything to do with the assassination of AFL-CIO Painters Union official Dow Wilson.

Call, a Sacramento painting contractor, is one of five defendants charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder in the Wilson slaying in San Francisco last April.

Call, in cross-examination yesterday by assistant Dist. Atty. Walter Giubbini, described himself as a "two-bit crook" and denied having any role in Wilson's shotgun death.

However, Call admitted taking part in a scheme to steal money from the Painters Union welfare fund at Sacramento.

And he also admitted holding a conversation in San Francisco with police informant Wallace Charleston, in which Call said he had tried to give Charleston the impression that he "knew about" the Wilson slaying. Charleston recorded the conversation and the tapes were played back in court last week.

"I was trying to scare him off," Call said.

"I was trying to impress Wally (Charleston) with something that didn't exist.

Call described the welfare fund pilferage and said Sture Youngren, the fund's administrator, had aided in the thefts.

Tax Credit Probably Out Until War's End

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson says he wants to suspend the 7 per cent investment tax credit only for 16 months.

But it is beginning to look as though businessmen better kiss this particular tax benefit goodbye —at least for as long as the Viet Nam war goes on.

It would not be the first war casualty. Early in the year, Johnson told Congress that the country could not afford to go ahead fullstream with the war on poverty while making war on the Viet Cong, too.

TREASURY HINT

More recently, the Treasury has been hinting that elimination of the U.S. balance of payments deficit will have to await an end to the hostilities in Southeast Asia.

A similar fate appears to be in store for the investment tax credit, the enactment of which Johnson said reflected his administration's commitment "to a high-investment, high-research, high-growth economy."

The administration bill now before the House Ways & Means Committee would suspend the credit until Jan. 1, 1968, at which time it would be restored.

Yesterday, Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler assured the committee that the suspension represented only "a temporary sacrifice of long run benefits," designed to temper inflationary pressures that were only "short run."

But almost everything else Fowler said raised doubts about whether the credit would, in fact, be reinstated a year from this coming January.

Fowler told the committee that he regarded the credit not only as a permanent part of the tax system but also as one that should be suspended "only in times of active hostilities at least on a scale such as characterizes the present situation."

NEXT YEAR

In short, if the war is still going on a year from now — and chances are it will be — and the economy is just as hot, then it's hard to see how the administration could avoid asking Congress to continue keeping the 7 per cent credit on ice beyond Jan. 1, 1968.

If Fowler wasn't saying as much, it's hard not to read this between the lines.

Tiburon Set To Draft Television Cable Law

The Tiburon City Council last night decided it was about time to prepare a community antenna television franchise ordinance, after discussing whether the city should get 2 or 5 per cent of the gross receipts.

"This has been before us for two years," Mayor John S. Hoffmire commented. "We delayed to get more experience."

The city has refused to consider several applications presented it until it had an ordinance.

Councilmen William R. Bremer and Thomas E. Drohan questioned City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose's recommendation that the city take 5 per cent of the gross receipts of any franchised operator.

"Five per cent is the cost of doing business," Hoffmire answered. "It can easily be passed onto the consumer. Those who want it will pay for it."

Rose said he felt "more strongly" about his recommendation for a $1,200 annual fee because operators make demands on a city's public works department. "Policing of CATV is not easy," he said.

After some discussion, the council agreed and authorized City Attorney Robert I. Conn to prepare the ordinance, based on a League of California Cities model. A franchise under the proposed ordinance would give the city 5 per cent of the gross receipts and 20 cents per capita annual fee. Commenting on the fee, Drohan said, "They're paying for the business."

Granting of a franchise would not commit the city to permit erection of an antenna in Tiburon, however. This would require a separate use permit.

The Tiburon City Council also:

1. Adopted an ordinance rezoning for multiple use Phillippe Mutrux's property on Centro West Street.

2. Introduced an ordinance amending the building code to outlaw some methods of affixing roof shingles because they prevent proper ventilation.

3. Authorized Rose to hold a state employees retirement system election among city employees.

4. Heard Drohan report that the council lands and development committee will return its downtown plan report after the parks and recreation commission and the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee have made recommendations.

5. Approved a 60-month lease-purchase acquisition of a $1,556 duplicating machine and a $2,800 used Case Model 530 utility loader.

6. Appointed Councilman Gordon W. Strawbridge as delegate to the League of California Cities annual conference in San Diego Oct. 16-18.

7. Deleted from the suspense calendar discussion of Mill Valley telephone prefixes and postal addresses on Tiburon areas, for discussion "when annexation takes place," as Rose put it.

Mrs. Brown Expected On Fast Marin Tour

Mrs. Edmund G. Brown will visit Marin County tomorrow.

Included on her crowded itinerary is a tour of the Sausalito Teacher Education Project and a round-table discussion with the student teachers; a visit to Marindale School for Orthopedically Handicapped Children in Terra Linda, and an inspection of the restoration of Novato Community House and city hall.

A former teacher, Mrs. Brown is the mother of four children, and grandmother of eight. She is a former Parent-Teacher Assn. officer, and has been particularly active and interested in the Head Start program, the school volunteer program, and in the compensatory education program.

Mill Valley City Council today adopted an ordinance authorizing inclusion on the November general election ballot of two bond issues totaling $800,000, of which $500,000 would finance replacement and construction of sewers and $300,000 would be to build a public safety building to house fire and police headquarters.

The ordinance was adopted at a special meeting at 8 a.m. at city hall to meet the legal requirement that the second reading be held within seven days of the first reading.

Novato Area Peat Blaze Flares Again

A stubborn fire, which was started last Friday when a power pole was broken by a car, continued to give Novato firemen trouble yesterday.

The fire started beside Highway 101, north of the Marin County airport, and burned approximately eight acres Friday. It penetrated to peat under the surface of the ground, and broke out again Saturday.

In high winds yesterday, it surfaced again, spreading over approximately 100 acres of grassland before it was again stopped.

More than 30 men battled the surface blaze yesterday and 10 men were kept on the scene until 9:30 last night.

"We will have a lot of trouble with that fire because it will continue to surface," said Fire Chief George Cavallero. He said he would keep men on watch today.

RACIAL

and federal authority, held a furious session last night in the City Hall auditorium to demand that the patrol be withdrawn.

"If you get that state highway patrol out of here there won't be a nigger left in Grenada," cried one man.

In Jackson, Gov. Paul Johnson vowed that "those who raise the sword of violence will be met by the sword of law enforcement."

In New York, a noisy demonstration outside a Harlem junior high school as the school year opened has resulted in the arrest of 12 young members of the Black Panthers, a militant Negro nationalist group.

It was the only such incident in the city yesterday as more than a million pupils trooped back to classrooms.

Pickets demanded that certain supervisory personnel be fired or transferred and that Negro history be included in the curriculum.

In Atlanta, Ga., despite civil rights leaders' pleas to end violence, defiant Negro youths hurled rocks and fire bombs last night before police sealed off the area.

The outbreak was in the same tense, predominantly Negro section where racial rioting erupted Saturday and Sunday nights, resulting in numerous arrests and extensive property damage.

The outburst came after a meeting at a church where leaders from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee vied for a following.

At the meeting, Hosea Williams, political action director of the SCLC, was shouted down with cries of "black power!" Some 100 of the militant youths walked out of the Tabernacle Baptist Church when Williams spoke. They later returned.

He stressed the need for independent thinking and hit hard at the need for education and economic betterment.

Willie Ricks, SNCC field secretary, said, "We're going to have every cracker in Atlanta on his knees. We're willing to pay the price."

In Washington, violence in the streets and the administration's refusal to back down on open housing threaten to bury any chance that Congress will pass civil rights legislation this year.

The Senate resumed perfunctory debate on the House-passed bill today, preliminary to a test vote tomorrow when the measure may be laid to rest.

President Johnson said yesterday "we will do everything we can" to obtain passage of the bill, but conceded at a news conference "we have some problems in the Senate which appear quite serious."

Johnson said much depends on whether Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen will drop his opposition to the bill's controversial open housing provision.

This provision, which would ban racial discrimination in the sale and rental of about 40 per cent of the nation's housing, has drained away support among Northern senators for the overall measure as they have assessed the violent reaction to efforts to integrate some all-white neighborhoods.

Six of the Senate's 33 Republicans came forward to sign a debate-limiting petition Mansfield filed yesterday. The Senate will vote on the cloture motion tomorrow—the seventh working day on the measure--and Dirksen predicted it will be defeated.

The six GOP members who signed are Sens. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, Hiram L. Fong of Hawaii, Jacob K. Javits of New York, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, and Robert P. Griffin of Michigan.

In Bogalusa, La., Negroes voted to defy a city ordinance and stage a protest march tonight.

The vote was taken last night at a meeting held by the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League to hear Negro pupils of the Bogalusa Junior High School complain of harassment by white pupils.

In Des Moines, Ia., an estimated 300 Negro youths went on a wild rampage in the near Northwest Side late last night, breaking windows and destroying property within an eight-block area.

negative manner through the presence of cramped and outdated office facilities and an architecturally and aesthetically unattractive building," he wrote.

Alternatives to a new civic center would be remodeling present facilities at a cost of $25,000 to $35,000; constructing a new fire station and remodeling other facilities, $150,000 to $170,000, or constructing a new fire station and remodeling and expanding other facilities, $230,000, Sumbardo reported.

Remodeling would not solve present or future space needs, he said. Construction of a fire station alone would not solve space problems in police and administrative offices.

The fire and police departments and general administrative offices are house at Bolinas and Park roads.

Sumbardo said the proposed civic center could be accommodated on the present site "provided that the facility is expanded across the creek where necessary, or if the building is more than a single story."

Because of the city's limited revenues the choice of another site is precluded unless "financed through bonds or lease-purchase financing," he said. "The present unique setting with majestic redwood groves immediately adjacent to the facilities is in itself sufficient reason to not consider any other site."

The proposed civic center would house the city council, which now meets at the Fairfax Women's Club at 46 Park Road, the engineering offices now located in the corporation yard at the rear of city hall, a conference room, the city administrator, city clerk, builing department and an employee lunch room.

It also would contain space for a finance department and a planning office, expected to be created by 1980.

second was shot down in heavy strikes against Viet Cong targets in the south. Both pilots were presumed killed.

A newly arrived American soldier went berserk with an automatic weapon on a Saigon street tonight and wounded three other soldiers before he was shot and killed himself.

Death-dealing C-47 "dragonships" drove Communist attackers away from a U.S. Special Forces camp near the North Vietnamese border for the third straight night yesterday.

More U.S. troops arrived in Viet Nam today. The 2nd Battalion of the 34th Armored, commanded by Lt. Col. Raymond L. Stailey of Tacoma, Wash., moved ashore at Vung Tau on the coast 40 miles southeast of Saigon.

And, in Washington, President Johnson is taking a cautiously optimistic middle ground between the enthusiastic reaction of some senators to the weekend's South Viet Nam elections and the doubts of a leading Senate critic of administration foreign policy.

"We are glad the elections were held and we are glad the people participated," the President told a news conference last night.

His remarks were more guarded than those of Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., who declared in a Senate speech that the Viet Cong "may well have suffered their Dien Bien Phu at the polls."

SLAYING

no one knows — unless perhaps the killer.

Sheriff's officers have speculated on the source of money used by Sidbeck to buy a bus ticket to Memphis, Tenn., on Aug. 30, the day after the double slaying in the Zimmermans' home. Sidbeck allegedly reported he had lost $100 in military travel pay the previous night during a carouse in San Francisco.

The stolen Zimmerman car, like the stolen purse, was found in San Francisco.

A complaint charging murder was filed in Marin Municipal Court yesterday, and a warrant of arrest was issued by Judge Leonard A. Thomas. Sheriff Mountanos said today, however, that a captain with the legal department of Sidbeck's base, Millinton Naval Air Station, said extradition proceedings must be initiated through the secretary of the navy because of seriousness of the charge.

Sidbeck had indicated he would waive extradition, and officers hoped base officials would release him on the warrant for an extradition hearing in a Memphis civilian court. However, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said he will now file papers with Gov. Edmund G. Brown's extradition secretary, who will then send them to Washington, D.C.

Both Bales and Sheriff Mountanos said it probably will be a week before Sidbeck can be returned. Undersheriff Sidney Stinson and Inspector Kenneth Irving have been in Memphis to return Sidbeck. They were to return to Marin this afternoon.

SPACE

ment was scheduled for Gemini 8, but that mission was halted by an out-of-control thruster — the same thruster which went out earlier today in the Gemini 11 mission. But the thruster was only a minor problem today.

With Conrad holding his legs, Gordon stood up in the open hatch before the spacewalk to retrieve an experimental package. Then he floated off into space, and straddled the Agena.

A space agency spokesman said the failure of the No. 8 thruster was nothing to worry about. He said it might not be needed for the rest of the flight.

The astronauts awoke at 2:55 a.m. after about four hours of "deep sleep" and breakfasted on bacon cubes and cinnamon toast.

Stations Entered

Burglars stole $93.61 from cash boxes in service stations at 1005 and 1004 Northgate Avenue, San Rafael, Sunday night, police reported today.

Officers said the thieves took $36.25 after breaking a window of the Chevron Station garage and $57.36 after breaking the latch on a Texaco station garage door.

Marinwood Bovine Neighbors To Stay

By WAT TAKESHITA

Marinwood residents will have to tolerate grazing cattle to the north and west of their subdivision, but not so close to the homes as the cattle owner had hoped.

A delegation of angry Marinwood residents, represented by attorney Charles L. Convis, descended on the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday to protest the presence of cattle on the 275-acre Julia Sequeira ranch near Miller Creek Road, next to the developed area of Marinwood.

They failed to evict the cows, but succeeded in getting a rule that the bovines may not browse within 100 feet of residential property lines.

The ruckus started when cattle owner George Newell got a variance from the county zoning administrator to allow up to 100 head of cattle on the Sequeira Ranch. The ranch is zoned "planned community" in preparation for future homesite development, but is still open land. The variance permitted the cattle to roam within 40 feet of homes.

Attorney Convis said the cattle began leaning against Marinwood backyard fences, trying to reach water in pools and sprinklers. "The Morgensterns (Leon Morgenstern of 599 Loganberry Drive) feared their fence would be torn down," said Convis.

The attorney claimed danger to children, health hazards, flies, and noise were caused by the cattle. He presented a petition of protest with 84 signatures to add to a previous petition containing 125 signatures.

Several residents arose to voice their protests.

"The landowner has already profited handsomely by selling the land for a million dollars, and now he cries hardship," said one resident. "And it's the same place where pitbulls were found fighting starving dogs!"

On a motion by Planning Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr., the commission decided the cows can stay, but only under these conditions:

The cattle must be kept at least 100 feet from residential property lines, adequate salt licks and watering areas must be provided at least 500 feet from homes, only 50 head of cattle will be permitted, no part of the property may be sublet for other uses, and sanitary conditions must meet health department requirements.

"Isn't it more or less normal that in Marin, grazing land is often found in juxtaposition to residential areas?" asked Margaret Azevedo, chairman of the commission.

"I can't see too much objection," said Commissioner Eugene R. Trombley. "It seems to me that grazing would help eliminate the fire hazard."

Annual Potluck Set

Redwood Shade Garden Club's annual picnic-potluck meeting is set for 7 p.m. Friday at Gerstle Park, San Rafael, when Hamilton Fish, horticulturist and broadcaster, will be guest speaker.

Hearing Slated On Acre Lots In Black Point

Black Point residents who have large homesites north of Black Point cutoff and west of the Petaluma River will get a hearing at 2 p.m. Oct. 10 on whether the area should be rezoned for minimum one-acre lots.

About 40 residents of the area have petitioned for rezoning from the present 7,500-square foot minimum to one-acre minimum. The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday set the hearing date.

The area proposed for rezoning is bounded by Atherton Avenue, H Lane, Novato city limits, Petaluma River, and Black Point Cutoff. The petitioners state that the hilly terrain and the use of septic tanks require larger building sites.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

1. Approved rezoning of 16,000 square feet at Dillon Beach from retail business to limited agricultural district. The property, wooded with eucalyptus, is west of Oceana Drive, on the south side of Cypress Avenue.
2. Decided to report to the Marin Junior College District Board that several complaints have been received on traffic and access problems at the college's new parking lot near Kent and Hillside avenues, Kentfield.
3. Continued until Sept. 26 a request for a free standing sign for four restaurants at Strawberry Shopping Center.

School Site Revisions Fought By Marincello

Spokesmen for Marincello and officials of the Sausalito School District threw verbal daggers at each other yesterday during an argument over proposed school sites at Marincello.

The confrontation occurred before the Marin County Planning Commission, during a hearing to determine size and location of the school sites.

E. Warren McGuire, attorney for Marincello, charged that Sausalito School District officials had given no indication they were opposed to the school sites shown on the Marincello Master Plan. "Now, today, they are saying in effect that none of the sites is acceptable."

"These school sites are geared to many things," said McGuire. "Schools can't operate in a vacuum."

This aroused Bruce Woelfel, vice president of the Sausalito School Board. "This is not a last-minute change," replied Woelfel. "We've always said we wanted fewer and larger sites."

The Marincello master plan shows a 29-acre high school campus in the bowl where Marincello's commercial center will be located. It also shows four elementary school sites, of 10 acres each — one in Tennessee Valley, and the others grouped in and about the Marincello bowl.

The Sausalito School District and the county planning staff suggested a 35-acre high school site, and three larger elementary school areas (10, 15 and 30 acres), in line with the "educational park" concept.

Attorney McGuire charged that increasing school sites in the choice bowl, the only relatively level area, "will jeopardize and even destroy Marincello's downtown mall and plaza concept."

Edward Heine, architect for Marincello, added that the larger school sites would take a "major bite" out of Marincello's proposed downtown center and "severely disrupt the entire plan."

The planning commission continued the hearing until Oct. 10. Chairman Margaret Azevedo asked both sides to present their views and proposals specifically, in writing if necessary.

LBJ Popularity Hits New Low In Pollsters' Lists

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson's popularity has slipped to 50 per cent —the lowest level since he entered the White House, according to a nationwide public opinion survey.

The Louis Harris Survey, copyrighted by the Washington Post Co., reported yesterday that the President's job rating among the public had dropped 4 points since July despite his recent speaking tours around the nation.

The survey blamed most of his decline in popularity on domestic problems such as the continued rise in food prices, racial riots, the airline strike and the drop in the stock market.

Another pollster, Dr. George Gallup, also was quoted yesterday as predicting that Johnson will be in "deep trouble" with the voters unless the Viet Nam situation improves.

Gallup, in a copyrighted interview in U.S. News and World Report, said his samplings of public opinon indicated that the Republicans would gain 25 to 35 House seats in the November elections.

Gallup said that civil rights violence ranked next to Viet Nam as an election issue.

Larkspur Planners Schedules Hearing

The Larkspur planning commission will have a public hearing today at 8 p.m. at city hall on Roger Ellis's request to establish a home for the elderly at 4 Liberty Street, Larkspur.

The commission will consider an amendment to the fence ordinance which would require that anyone building a fence obtain a variance, and will discuss minimum floor areas for multiple dwellings.

Nixon Opens Up Political Tour

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, the unsuccessful Republican candidate for president in 1960 who is considered one of his party's leading candidates for the 1968 presidential nomination, begins a 34,000-mile trip today to campaign for GOP candidates in 34 states.

But although the trip may bring him valuable support for the nomination, the former vice president turned aside questions on his ambitions for 1968.

"Let's get 1966 out of the way first and then there will be plenty of opportunity to talk about 1968," he said Monday after meeting with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, under whom he served for eight years.

Peace Corpsmen Take Soviet Teachers Place

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Sixty-seven U.S. Peace Corps volunteers arrived in Accra today to fill some of the vacancies created by the exodus of 100 Soviet secondary-school teachers after the overthrow of President Kwame Nkrumah in February.

Their arrival brought the number of American Peace Corps members in Ghana to 130.

Kettenhofen Proposes Year Delay On Strawberry Plans

Marin's Local Agency Formation Commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 20 to discuss possible incorporation or annexation of the Strawberry area.

The meeting will be held in the board of supervisors chambers in the civic center.

John F. Barrows, executive officer of the commission, said the discussion will include three possibilities: Incorporation of Strawberry, annexation to Mill Valley, and annexation to Tiburon.

Meanwhile, Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, an alternate member of the commission, is urging that any decision on the Strawberry annexation or incorporation be delayed at least one year.

Kettenhofen, in a letter to the commission, said he is concerned with the possibility of ultimate formation of a City and County of Marin.

"Another basic philosophy which is being reviewed and investigated at this time by the county board of supervisors is the fair and equitable division of all services and revenues, including sales tax," Kettenhofen added.

"I note that the Local Agency Formation Commission in the county of San Bernardino has recently put some areas on notice that they would not approve the annexation of a retail-commercial area until and unless the city involved would split the sales tax with the county for that area. I would certainly approve of such a practice here in Marin. In fact I would recommend that all new shopping centers that are to be annexed to cities split the sales tax 50-50 with the county after annexation.

If Strawberry is to be annexed at all, Kettenhofen says, the logical way is to conform to the commission's previous philosophy that everything east of the highway become Tiburon and everything west of the highway become Mill Valley.

Fairfax Urges Creek Cleanup Before Rains

The Fairfax Town Council last night proclaimed Oct. 8-9 "Creek Cleanup Weekend" in an effort to have residents clear debris from creeks before the winter rains.

The council also voted to spend up to $500 for city participation in the clean-up work.

Public Works Director Richard J. Nelson reported last month that debris piles up behind boulders and under bridges.

Councilmen felt that the city should start a program to have residents clear debris on a voluntary basis, similar to the city-wide spring clean-up.

The Fairfax Council also approved plans for an expanded road widening project for Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, that did not include undergrounding of utilities.

The project, estimated to cost $66,500, will extend from Marin-da Drive to Oak Manor Drive, 700 feet farther than the original plan which extended to Oak Tree Lane. The council authorized negotiation for the additional rights-of-way and called for bids to be opened Sept. 30.

Mayor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said that "everyone is undergrounding" but the cost would be beyond the city's means.

The council selected George S. Nolte Inc. of San Rafael as design engineer for the Center Boulevard widening project between Corte Madera Creek and Pacheco Avenue, at a cost of $4,000.

It accepted two strips of land for this project, one from Ora Savage at $696 and the other from Albert Finn at $400, and authorized condemnation against eight other strips needed for the widening.

The Fairfax Town Council Also

1. Appointed Harold M. Walker Jr. of 88 Bolinn Road to the Park and Recreation Commission to fill the unexpired term of Thomas Cascia, who resigned, until April 7, 1968.
2. Voted 4-1, with Frank Egger dissenting, to ask the park and recreation commission to present more information on programs and workload along with its recommendation that the salary for the recreation director be increased to $200 a month from the present $170.
3. Set for Oct. 3 at 8 p.m. a public hearing on an amendment to the zoning ordinance that would prohibit construction of residential buildings in commercial and industrial zones, pending completion of the city's master plan.
4. Granted Charles J. Fraguero a permit to operate a gasoline service station at Center and Sir Francis Drake boulevards.
5. Passed an ordinance amendment setting overtime pay rates, but not including department heads, and extending the work week for clerical help at the city office from 35 to 40 hours. The vote was 3-2, with George A. Pagni and Egger dissenting.
6. Approved a civil defense program prepared by Gordon Adams and appropriated $100 to the program.
7. Agreed that the Fairfax Merchants Assn. be relieved of paying the $10 luncheon rental fee for use of the Fairfax Women's Club in recognition of the association's activity as a city group.
8. Tabled consideration of enacting a hotel-motel tax after City Mgr. David Sumbardo reported that the revenue would be nominal.
9. Proclaimed Sept. 25 as "Fairfax Day," Sept. 17-23 as "Constitution Week," and Sept. 18-24 as "National Highway Week."
10. Approved expenditure of $200 for each council member, who attends the League of California Cities conference next month.

Boys Severed Leg Rejoined

BOSTON (AP) — Doctors at Boston City Hospital have rejoined the severed left leg of an 18-year-old boy and are watching to see if the heroic effort will succeed.

To date, no attempt to rejoin a severed leg is known to have fully succeeded. It is believed that the first successful reattachment of a human limb occurred in 1962 at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston when surgeons rejoined the right arm of 12-year-old Everett (Red) Knowles.

The battle to save the leg of Jan Dangora began Sept. 1 when his left leg was cut off eight inches below the knee in a motorcycle-automobile collision. Only a small portion of skin connected the two parts of Jan's leg.

It's still to early to know if the replant will work.

Fairfax Fixes Rates For 1964 TV Cable Franchise

The City of Fairfax granted Clear View Cable Systems a franchise to provide community antenna television service in April, 1964, but the rates were not officially fixed until last night.

City Administrator David J. Sumbardo said the rate schedule was not adopted because of an oversight. The company has been charging the "original rates" except for a $10 connection fee for each additional set, he said.

Sumbardo said the original proposal was for a $5 fee for additional sets, but company representatives said they were not aware of the $5 fee being agreed upon.

The council voted to adopt the rates, including the $10 additional connection charge which has prevailed, by 4-1 vote, with Frank J. Egger dissenting.

Under the ordinance, the city gets two per cent of the gross profits. Egger contended the city should get five per cent.

Under the rate schedule, connection charges range from $50 to nothing depending upon which service plan the resident chooses, and monthly service charges range from $4.50 to $6.50.

Antimissile Contract To Western Electric

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has awarded a $256.58-million contract to Western Electric Co. to continue developing and testing an antimissile defense system.

The Pentagon said the contract covers design and development work and testing at the White Sands Missile Range, N.M., and operations at the Kwajalein test site in the Marshall Islands.

Fairfax Festival To Include Flea Market

A day-long antique "flea market," with more than 200 antique dealers from Northern California displaying their wares along two city streets in Fairfax will be one of the features of the first Fairfax Festival on Sept. 25.

George A. Pagni, festival chairman, said the antique display will be the largest ever assembled in Marin.

The festival will open at 9 a.m. with a 20-mile junior bicycle race along city streets, followed by a 40-mile senior bike race.

After the bicycle races there will be an antique car parade downtown.

There will be an outdoor art show at the Redwood Grove, including a do-it-yourself mural where residents can try their hands at painting and art-in-action exhibits.

Judges of the art show will be Thomas Freudenheim, assistant director of the University Art Museum, University of California at Berkeley; J. J. Aasen, curator of Richmond Art Center, and Ron Ceya, director, Walnut Creek Civic Arts Center.

The Hamilton Air Force Base Band will give a concert at the Little League ball park. After the concert there will be an exhibition of folk dancing on Bolinas Road.

Star Group To Meet

Thomas Gates, director of the Morrison Planetarium, San Francisco, will talk about "Stonehenge Unravelled" at a meeting of the Star Observers of Marin, an astronomy study group, in the supervisors' chambers at the Marin County Civic Center at 8 p.m. Sept. 29.

San Jose Set To Hire Stop Light Computer

SAN JOSE (UPI) — An IBM computer will soon take over control of stop lights in San Jose.

City officials decided upon the step after a three-year experimental program on a three-mile stretch of a main traffic artery. The computer reduced the number of stops 17 per cent and the waiting time at stops 14 per cent.

For the 35,000 autos that use the street each business day, this meant the elimination of some 50,000 stops and a time saving to drivers of 416 man hours.

Officials arrived at a $264,000 annual savings figure for motorists, after calculating the cost of stopping and waiting for a red light.

Information is fed to the computer about the speed, volume and density of traffic by electrical sensors buried beneath the street. Within seconds, the computer applies the most efficient sequence of switches for the traffic lights.

The Public Works Department plans to use the computer for designing streets and highways when it is not busy with traffic cop duties.

Safe Drivers List Cause Of Accidents

BEAUMONT (AP)—Two veteran truck drivers, both recipients of several safe and courteous driving awards, listed what they feel are the major causes of highway accidents:

"Impatience and negligence," said James D. Palmer and Bernard L. Sprinkle. They both concluded, also, that drunk drivers contribute to many fatalities.

Yacht's Skipper Prefers Women For Cruise's Crew

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—If you're a girl who doesn't object to salt in your hair and blisters on your hands, you might fit into the crew of the deepwater sloop Neophyte Two.

The skipper, Lee Quinn, is a man but his crews have been a succession of girls on a leisurely globe - trotting voyage that started in 1962.

The last of the seawomen, Barbara Sodt of Berwyn, Ill., and Quinn sailed the 48 - foot Neophyte Too together from the Virgin Islands to Miami, arriving last week.

Barbara, a former advertising copywriter, will maintain the sloop while Quinn lectures for three months.

Quinn said "Girls make the best crew. They try so much harder to please."

About 50 have tried to please the 39-year-old skipper since the cruise began at Sausalito. All left at various ports for various reasons—romance, family problems, or because they had arrived where they wanted to go.

Firemen Aid Dog Struck By Auto

Terra Linda firemen filled in as "ambulance attendants" yesterday when a beagle dog, following a boy on a bicycle, was struck by a passing car at Las Raposas and Del Ganado Way about 5:45 p.m.

Fire Chief George Walser said he and his men improvised a stretcher out of a cardboard box and carted the dog to the boy's mother, Mrs. Ruth Long at 820 Penny Royal Lane.

The dog, named Candy, suffered an injured leg. The boy was described as about 11 or 12 years old.

Ungraded Classes Get Approval In Kentfield

The Kentfield school district board last night approved ungraded reading and mathematics programs for Greenbrae and Wolfe grade schools.

The programs will start in kindergarten through sixth grades at Greenbrae and in kindergarten through third grades at Wolfe grade. Ungraded programs have been used at Adaline E. Kent School for two years.

The board increased the salary of district psychologist Jack D. Williams by $1,000 to $14,700 a year, and approved hiring a third secretary for the district office at $5,112 a year, although Supt. Howard C. Harmon had requested only a part-time secretary.

A closed session followed the regular board meeting. Harmon said the board discussed "hiring and firing" and decided that no action was called for. Trustee Donald E. Elsener was absent.

The Kentfield District School Board Also:

1. Heard a report that Wolfe Grade kindergarten is overloaded, and seven children will be transferred to other schools, and that sixth grade classes at Kent School are overcrowded.
2. Approved class schedules with split sessions in primary grades at all district schools.
3. Heard a report that reconstruction at Kent School will be completed in three weeks.
4. Asked Harmon to investigate a system of calling substitute teachers that would include several districts and the county school office, with absent teachers reporting directly to a central office.
5. Approved hiring Doris Chavez to teach Spanish at $8,664 a year, Kay Minton as library clerk at Kent School at $426 a month, Jack Waller and Wallace Kuroiwa as part-time custodians at $229 a month, Michael Gill as noon supervisor at Kent School at $2 an hour, and Susan Schenck and Janice Stratton as part-time secretaries at $2 an hour.

Wilson To Try To End Revolt

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson today was reported considering sending a senior member of his government to Salisbury in a final bid to persuade Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith to end his 10-month rebellion.

The report came amid signs that the 22-nation Commonwealth conference was nearing a compromise agreement on a Rhodesia policy, particularly on the African member nations' demand that Britain withhold independence from the breakaway colony until black majority rule is established there.

Wilson had declined to make such a pledge and outlined a compromise program to a secret conference session Monday. Officials said although much bargaining on details remained, the deadlock over the issue seemed to be breaking down.

Mistrial Ruled In Murder Trial

YREKA (AP)— Jurors failed to agree Monday, resulting in a mistrial for Mrs. Joyce H. Baggott, 25, who is charged with murder in the death of her husband, Walter, 41.

Her stepson, Rocky A. Baggott, 16, pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter and testified she persuaded him to shoot his father with a .22 - caliber rifle July 1 while camping in remote Siskiyou County mountains.

Judge J. E. Barr, in Superior Court, set Sept. 23 as a new trial date for the woman.

Young Baggott said she had urged him to leave his wife, Linda, 16, and run away with her.

The stepmother denied young Baggott's account and that of his wife who testified she had heard Mrs. Baggott tell the youth to shoot his father.

Jurors were split, 8 to 4, for acquittal.

Both Baggott families had lived in Arcata.

Novato Delays Action On Plans For Signs

The Novato Planning Commission last night postponed action on several sign requests pending revision of the city's sign ordinance.

It denied sign applications of Robert B. McCreadie at 1127 Grant Avenue and Bakin and Robbins at the Downtown Novato shopping center at Grant Avenue and Seventh Street.

It continued indefinitely the requests of Walter Kieckhefer at Pacheco Plaza, Langsman Realty Co. on the frontage road south of Hamilton Air Force Base, Heifetz Co. on South Novato Boulevard north of Rowland Boulevard.

Also continued indefinitely was landscaping plans of Schuman Chevrolet Co. for its new building on the west side of Highway 101 across from Lamont Avenue.

A. P. Azevedo's plans for a 12-unit apartment at 1110 Olive Avenue were approved. Consideration of plans for a Shell Oil Co. service station at Highway 101 and Olive Avenue was continued until Sept. 26.

Santa Rosa Savings and Loan Assn. was given a year's extension for use of a temporary building at Grant Avenues and Highway 101, but request for a free-standing sign was denied.

Radiation Leaks From Test Blast

FRENCHMAN FLAT, Nev. (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission was seeking to learn today by what route a measurable amount of radiation escaped from an underground nuclear blast at the Nevada atomic test site.

An AEC spokesman said the radiation gradually leaked into the air after the 20,000-kiloton explosion 837 feet under the desert Monday.

The spokesman said the radiation could have climbed along a fault in the ground, come back up the vertical shaft that contained the nuclear device, or escaped along cables from the underground blast to government measuring devices.

The AEC did not say whether the explosion was of an atomic weapon, but did say it was not part of its Plowshare series for peaceful atomic development.

Tiburon Council To Study 'Temporary' Hilary Barrier

Remembering a tumultuous meeting almost a year ago, the Tiburon city council last night gingerly agreed to look into the Hilary Drive barrier between the Hawthorne Terrace and Del Mar areas.

"We've been dodging this long enough," Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said. "I think the matter should be reopened."

Last Sept. 17, the council, in granting the Hilary Heights subdivision, approved erection of a removeable barricade. Fire Chief Frank J. Buscher objected to a permanent one. Del Mar property owners jammed the meeting to protest that without the barrier the through street would be dangerous for their children.

Mysteriously, the council learned last night, the barricade was constructed as a permanent one. In a July 25 letter, Buscher protested, saying he needed more through streets for his fire trucks.

City Engineer Ray W. Foraker said last night, "I have little doubt that the street is a hazard." Councilman Gordon W. Strawbridge moved that the matter be reopened.

"It's coming up in the master plan," Mayor John S. Hoffmire said in seeking a delay. The proposed plan shows the drive as a through street.

"What if there's a fire in the 18 months before the plan is ready?" Councilman Thomas E. Drohan asked. "The city may be liable," Councilman William R. Bremer, a lawyer, commented.

The council decided that even if it had since inadvertently approved plans for a permanent barrier, it had agreed in principle to a removeable one. It authorized City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose and City Atty. Robert I. Conn to see what the city could do.

14 Hospitalized By Chlorine Gas

TORRANCE (AP)—Fourteen persons caught in a cloud of chlorine gas after an industrial accident remained hospitalized today for observation.

Police said at least 85 persons were felled by the yellow-green gas, released when a welder cut the wrong gas line yesterday.

Hundreds of workers fled nearby industrial plants, and homes in the area were evacuated.

Councilwoman Named To Conservation Unit

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Mrs. Bernice Hubbard May, Berkeley councilwoman, has been appointed to the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, Gov. Brown's office said today.

Mrs. May, a Democrat, succeeds Martin Meyerson, former acting chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley. Meyerson, also former dean of the university's College of Environmental Design, left Berkeley to become president of the State University of New York at Buffalo.

AFRICAN TRAVELS

Olduvai Gorge—World's Top Pre-History Hunting Ground

Fifth of a series on just-completed travels through East Africa, South Africa and Rhodesia.

By BARBARA HOSMER

"Do not touch or remove any fossil bones or stone implements . . . not only in sites that have been excavated but this rule also applies to specimens lying on the surface elsewhere . . ."

Warned and welcomed, one walks to the edge of Olduvai Gorge, the world's greatest anthropological hunting ground. Fifteen miles long and a 200-foot-deep cut into a flat, bleached-earth section of the Serengeti Plains in Northern Tanzania, the gorge is a less than ideal homesite today, scorched and dusty, dotted with scrub and dead-looking trees, a far cry from the fresh cloud forests of Ngorongoro 25 miles back.

Yet a rugged descent into the gorge by Land Rover and short dust-slogging climbs to the excavation sites prove to the visitor the once-abundant life in the area. Fossils, bone fragments and stone tools are still there lying loose but under wood shacks with corrugated metal roofs while others found with them are being studied in Nairobi by Dr. Louis Leakey and his staff, including African scientists. And half a world away, here on the Berkeley campus, Dr. Richard L. Hay, who went to Olduvai in 1962 and 1964, is studying rock samples for dating and environmental conditions of some two million years ago and man's earliest known development.

Sand-bagged walls of ten-foot cuts into the gorge in various parts of the canyon layers show that much is left to be learned by the scientists when they resume their painstaking "dig."

FIRST DISCOVERED by a German butterfly collector, Professor Kattwinkel, in 1911, the gorge disclosed fossil bones on its erosion slopes. Back in Germany Dr. Hans Reck saw them and organized an expedition which spent three months at Olduvai in 1913 and collected important remains, though he failed to recognize any tools of early man, not surprising when one learns how primitive they were.

In Dr. Hay's words, one of the earliest tools is a rock with four flakes removed, easily mistaken for a pebble in a stream, but when you find dozens of them in a single campsite, always with the same number of flakes taken off in about the same way, you realize that they must be chipped to a pattern. In searching for these patterns the scientists are piecing out man's earliest history.

Dr. Leakey saw Professor Reck's discoveries in the Berlin Museum and the two men made an expedition to the gorge in 1931. On his first day Dr. Leakey found stone tools of early man near the first campsite. The work is rugged, dusty and hot, and for reasons of health Reck handed rights to the work over to Dr. Leakey, who with his wife, Mary, visited the gorge whenever time and funds permitted.

SEARCHING FOR fossils washing out on the slopes of the deposits, it was Mrs. Leakey who found the now famous man-like creature "Zinjanthropus" skull fragments. A small part of the bone behind the ear was first seen, partly exposed by erosion. When found in 1959 the skull was broken into hundreds of fragments which have been reassembled into an almost complete skull — now at Nairobi Museum. Extensive digging at the site has revealed the earliest known living floor of primitive man. An area of 50 by 70 feet, the site held hundreds of stone tools, together with the chips that were knocked off to make the tools, and the remains of animal bones broken open and splintered to get the marrow.

In 1960, a few hundred yards to the north, Jonathan Leakey found skull parts, and bones of the hand of a child about 10 years old and a collarbone and almost complete foot of an adult. The foot was developed along human lines rather than ape-like, the skull had a brain case larger than Zinjanthropus and the child's hand, though not like ours, was capable of holding objects with some precision, the scientists found.

WITH THE WORK in its infancy, it's quite exciting to visit the excavation sites with the Africans who work with Dr. Leakey and who point out areas that will be dug next following a geological layer or line, and excavations that have proved worthless, at least until further clues are discovered.

Easing over rocks and through wallows of white dust, a Land Rover can make the 15-minute trek into the gorge area where Zinjanthropus fragments lay, tiny dik-dik antelope bouncing shyly behind the scrub as the car washes it in powdery dust. Braked on a steep incline, the vehicle is left to bake in the sun as the traveler crunches up the loose rock and dirt incline to the area some 50 feet wide where careful sifting and excavation brought to light the remains of earliest known man. A concrete slab is the simple marker.

The sides of the gorge can be seen as layered, and the results so far have dated the lava at the bottom at approximately 1,800,000 years old. The layer immediately overlying the Zinjanthropus skull has been dated at 1,750,000 years old. Four "beds" or layers may be counted, with beds I and II the most productive. Near the top of bed II the old river channel with remains of giant animals was found. The earliest, or lava, layer is about 200 feet below the rim of the gorge. Beds I and II begin about 95 feet below the gorge rim and were mainly laid down in a fluctuating ancient lake, where bones and tools have been found from old camping sites beside it.

The African guide explained that after the four beds were formed, earth movements probably connected with the formation of the Great Rift Valley resulted in a series of faults cutting visibly through the deposits. Long after the bed deposits and after the earth movements, a valley was cut, running in the same direction as the gorge, but it had gently sloping walls not steep like the former ravine. Much later the climate became dryer, and a layer of volcanic ash accumulated in the valley, making a late bed V, fawn-colored in contrast to the hard yellow and red of the earlier beds and gray clay-ash deposits in the stratified walls.

Finally renewed erosion cut the present gorge, following the drainage system of the earlier valley.

"DR. LEAKEY WILL be back to begin again next year," the African said, as the Land Rover loaded passengers for the ride out past the blockades of thorn bushes thrown up to protect workers in the gorge against lion, rhino or whatever future fossil might wander along.

A single red cactus blossom lent color to what appeared a totally uninhabitable area as one looked back through floating white dust—an unlikely looking cradle of humanity from its appearance today.

John Hardie, Miss Butler Wed Saturday

St. Luke's Presbyterian Church in San Rafael was the setting at 4 p.m. on Saturday for the wedding of Marylee Butler of Davis and John L. Hardie of San Rafael.

The Rev. Henry Kent performed the double ring rite for which Marylee wore a floor length gown of white lace styled along Empire lines.

Dr. Joanne Williams of Watsonville was her maid of honor in a green lace and white crepe dress. Bridesmaid Mrs. Byron Butler Jr. wore a blue lace and white crepe dress.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

That Gathering At The White House

By MOLLY MARIN

One of the most exciting and thrilling experiences of their lives for Dr. and Mrs. Earle Marsh of Mill Valley was attending the concert in the White House in Washington last week in which their famous daughter, soprano Jane Marsh, was the star of the evening. Mrs. Marsh has returned, but Dr. Marsh went on to fulfill speaking engagements at medical association meetings in New York, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

An especially interesting circumstance for the Marshes about the concert presented by 13 young American winners in the June Tschaikovsky International Competitions in Moscow — in which Jane placed first in the vocal division — was that this was the first time they had heard her sing in a year. The last time was in 1965 when she sang the role of Desdemona in "Otello" at the Festival of Two Worlds in Spoleto, Italy. "She seemed to be much more sure of herself," Mrs. Marsh said.

FOR THE elegant occasion Jane wore a full length sheath of ice blue raw silk with rhinestone yoke, and Mrs. Marsh chose an emerald green dress with chiffon skirt and lace top with bolero.

"One of the biggest thrills," Mary said, "was getting to meet not only President and Mrs. Johnson, whom we found completely charming, but many of the 250 brilliant guests. There hadn't been such a gathering of leaders in the arts at the White House since Pablo Casals was there," she noted.

"Among the people we enjoyed seeing were the Metropolitan Opera star Robert Merrill, composer Rudolf Friml, soprano Eileen Farrell and Victor Borge, who was doing his usual clowning, and Todd Duncan, who was the original Porgy in Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess." Kurt Herbert Adler of the San Francisco and Erich Leinsdorf of the Boston Symphony were there too," she said.

"I NEVER SAW such a buffet table and food—it must have been at least a block long, and the flower displays were the last word in elegance. And a wonderful orchestra played during the reception."

During their stay in Washington, where they lived during World War II, the Marshes enjoyed friendships with people they had known then.

MRS. J. HARRY GOFF of San Rafael, daughter of General Yeu Bing-han, Army, Republic of China, and Mrs. Yeu, has returned from Taipei with her four sons, where she spent two months with her parents. During her stay there, she was welcomed in the Taipei official and diplomatic circles.

The highlight of her stay was a visit to Kinmen (Quemoy), the famous off-shore bastion of the Republic of China, as guest of the commanding general of the island.

Mrs. Goff returned to the United States to take her position at Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael. During her visit to Taiwan, she was impressed by the emphasis that the government of the Republic of China places on education and by the progress it has made in this field. She contacted many high ranking officials of the ministry of education and well known educators. She visited schools and universities. She collected numerous documents, and plans

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

The World Has Enough Troubles Without The Busybody In Action

Dear Helen:

I went to school with two sisters. One married, the other didn't, and town rumor had it they fell in love with the same man. About six years later, the married sister was in a terrible accident and became a human vegetable. She breathes. That's about all.

The unmarried sister moved in to care for her. There was some talk, of course.

Then the man was transferred to a city in Canada, and he took both sisters with him, one as "nurse." Later he changed to another firm.

Recently a friend visited in Canada and she ran into this man and his sister-in-law who didn't seem overjoyed to see her. She gathered from keeping her ears open that the sisters have switched roles—nurse is now "wife," and patient is the poor sister "Mr. and Mrs. X" are caring for.

Knowing this kind of thing goes on, isn't it somebody's duty to let the man's company in on the secret? —AWARE

Dear Aware:

Knowing what kind of thing goes on? Has it occured to you that a divorce may have been arranged, and nurse is now legal wife? Even if not, it's none of your business. Leave them alone? —H.

Dear Helen:

Maybe you could settle an argument: $10 is riding on your answer.

My husband and I went to a dinner dance. It isn't the easiest thing to get dressed to go out when you have small children, and about a half hour after we arrived—before dinner had been served—I thought I'd better check my make-up.

Not wanting to go to the ladies' room, as I usually do for make-up repairs, I took out my compact.

Well, my husband really created a riot. He carried on as though nothing could be more rude.

Question: Is it improper to check make-up in public? I wouldn't dream of combing my hair, but can't a gal even briefly powder her nose? How would you answer? —Mrs. S.M.

Dear Mrs. M.:

With $10 riding on my answer: very cautiously!

Why not call it a draw? Checking make-up briefly in public is permissible, though not in the best taste.

But when a man makes a scene about his wife's lapse—this is also bad taste. —H.

P.S. If he really "created a riot," collect five bucks from him.

Dear Helen:

Ex-darner has a nerve. She said stretch hose ended darning. Not true. The trick is to stretch the sock out slightly over a wooden "egg." With my large family—I've gotta! — MOTHER OF EIGHT

Dear Helen:

Must a man always stand until a woman sits down? There's this table-hopping friend of my wife's. At the club she stops to talk and keeps it up for five minutes while my soup gets cold.

My wife says the custom of standing for a lady is outdated. If so, I haven't heard about it. —STOOD UP

Dear S.U.:

Not outdated, but it should be updated to read, "Men need not remain standing for table-hopping women who remain standing. They are too thoughtless to merit extreme courtesy." —H.

Dear Helen:

My brother, sisters and I don't have our birth certificates, and our 78-year-old mother is no help. She doesn't have one either. We need them for old age benefits. Where can we write? —BORN TOO SOON

Dear BTS:

Write to the Court House in the town where you were born. born. —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Indepent-Journal.

to write her impressions about her visit.

TWO HUNDRED GUESTS will have tea at tomorrow's party at the Francisca Club in San Francisco to honor Marin debutante Susan Halley. The deb's mother, Mrs. Andrew S. Halley, is giving the afternoon affair for all the Marin debutantes and their mothers, family friends from Marin and the Bay Area and guests from southern and central California.

The debutante will receive with her mother and grandmother, Mrs. Clarence Tucker of Monterey, before a fireplace arrangement of tall woodwardia fern frond and autumn blooms in shades of yellow. Susan has selected a pale yellow chiffon dress for the occasion and will carry a bouquet of yellow garnet roses, lillies of the valley and mignonette. Mrs. Halley will wear gold lace and Mrs. Tucker has chosen beige lace.

Invited to pour at the tea table decorated with a fall arrangement of dahlias, yellow daisies, snapdragons, yellow roses and sultans, will be Mrs. S. Nicholas Jacobs of San Francisco, the deb's godmother; Mrs. Walter Beatie Jr. of Ross, her cousin; Mrs. Francis Halley of Modesto, her aunt; Mrs. Evelyn Holl of Modesto, her cousin; and Mesdames Leon Smith of Tiburon, Bollman Di Giorgio of San Francisco, Ernest Denicke of Ross, Frank Paganini of Ross and Richard Herman of San Francisco.

Formerly of Kentfield, the Halleys moved to Tiburon and now are living in San Francisco as of this month.

AN EXTRAORDINARY result for Mrs. Robert B. Earl of the trip to Hawaii from which she and her family have just returned to Mill Valley was learning things about her grandfather she had never known. The Earls and their children, Karen, 15, and David, 9, flew to Hawaii on Aug. 23 and stayed five days in Waikiki, which Jackie Earl said they did not like because of the crowds and heat. They spent most of the time at Punaluu on the windward side of Oahu, finding it delightful, and saw most of the island by driving 500 miles in a rented car.

THE TRIP had been a lifelong ambition for Jackie because her grandfather was the first commissioner of schools in Hawaii and had been influential in overthrowing the monarchy. It was at Punaluu that the Earls met Mrs. Herman Nichols of Piedmont, who has a summer home there. It turned out that her mother and aunt had been students under Jackie's grandfather and she was able to tell Jackie stories about him she had never heard.

VACATIONING at the Santa Barbara Biltmore are Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Adams of Belvedere.

Tea Planned For Goucher Alumnae

Marin County alumnae of Goucher College in Baltimore, will hold a tea on Sept. 18 at the home of Mrs. Richard A. Evans in Mill Valley.

An active organization of 250 San Francisco Bay Area alumnae plans a varied program of speakers, luncheons and fund raising events for the fall and winter.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Alfred Wilsey of Kentfield. Her gown was white full length empire style peau de soie accented with seed pearls and lace with a matching cathedral coat.

Maid of honor was Jane Wilsey of San Rafael, the bride's sister. Bridesmaids were Suzanne Forcade of Sausalito, and Dixie and Debbie McFadden, the bridegroom's sisters, both of Great Falls.

Tom Heisler Jr. of Great Falls served as best man, and ushers were Steve and Bob Wilsey of San Rafael, the bride's brothers, and Pat Moriarity of Great Falls.

Kathleen is the daughter of Mrs. John Hayes Wilsey of San Rafael and the late Mr. Wilsey. She was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended the College of Marin and the College of Great Falls, where she majored in sociology. She made her debut at the Marin Debutante Ball in 1962. Christopher and Hayes Wilsey of San Rafael are her brothers.

Duane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira McFadden of Great Falls. He was graduated from Central Catholic High School there and attended Carroll College in Helena, Mont., and the College of Great Falls, where he will continue his studies. Mrs. Gordon Palmer and Mrs. Sherman Lurass and Dean McFadden, all of Great Falls, are his sisters and brother.

After a wedding trip to Yellowstone Park, the couple are making their home in Great Falls.

Mill Valley Schools 'Simply A Disgrace'

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The physical condition of Mill Valley schools was termed "simply a disgrace" last night by a trustee of the school district, Joseph E. Bodovitz.

"Ours is one of the least satisfactory plants of any suburban community in the country," he declared. Mill Valley schools are "appalling" when compared with those "in communities no wealthier than we are," he said.

"I think it's time for the community to do something about it," Bodovitz declared.

His sharp attack on the somewhat aged physical plant in the district came in a board meeting at Old Mill School to plan for a bond issue in April to finance a new "middle school" and additions to elementary schools.

Supt. G. R. McConnell told the board it must decide whether to adopt the recommendation made July 25 by the district's professional council that some neighborhood schools have classes only through third grade.

However, said McConnell, "I am sure we can't decide now."

Trustees endorsed a suggestion by their chairman, Dr. William L. Clark, that they hold "an open-ended public workshop some Saturday soon to hammer out these issues." No date was set.

Trustee William P. Evarts Jr. urged that the board move ahead on the plan to build an intermediate school on city-owned land adjacent to Project 17 on Camino Alto. The proposed school "can be a focal point for the community," he said. "We can improve the whole approach to Mill Valley and solve the problem of overcrowding at primary schools."

Trustee Joyce R. Gross said this school could "be a definite advantage to the taxpayer by sharing the cost of joint facilities with the city."

Of 32 letters to the board on the proposal that some schools go only through third grade, McConnell said, about one-quarter favored the proposal.

The board adopted Bodovitzs' recommendation that he, McConnell, a city official and architect Rex Whitaker Allen be a committee to begin "at once" the process of selecting an architect for new schools.

McConnell read a letter from County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney warning districts that interest rates on school bonds are nearing the 5 per cent limit set by state law. The board voted to write the state legislature and California School Boards Assn. that "This may be an archaic law."

The Mill Valley School Board Also:

1. Heard a report by Asst. Leo B. Edson that average class size was 28.2 pupils, down from 29.4 last year and from 31 three years ago. The use of five portable classrooms made the reduction possible, he said.

2. Approved requests from parents of 13 children living outside the district to attend Mill Valley district schools.

3. Heard McConnell report that 103 pupils from the Mill Valley district were enrolled in the program at Richardson Bay School in the Sausalito district, only seven below the quota.

4. Referred to its policy development committee a suggestion by Trustee M. James Norton Jr. that regular inspections be made of all schools "to be sure that children are attending school under safe conditions." His suggestion was prompted by the discovery Thursday that two pre-1933 wings at Park School annex were unsafe.

5. In closed session, discussed, but took no action on, hiring a human relations consultant.

6. Hired, in closed session, four teachers: Laura Ann Zavosky, Homestead School; Nancy Campbell, Old Mill School; Rosemary Santonicola, Edna Maguire School, and Mrs. Carl B. Schneider, Alto School.

7. Adjourned in memory of the late Mrs. Marietta Larson, former trustee of Tamalpais High School District.

Sheppard Headed For Same Court

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard will stand trial Oct. 18 on a second degree murder charge in the slaying of his first wife, a judge ruled today.

Barring a change of venue, the new trial will be held in the same Cleveland courtroom where exactly 12 years ago to the day Sheppard first went on trial in 1954.

In announcing the trial date, Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Roy F. McMahon did not name a presiding judge. He said he probably would do so in three or four days.

Sheppard was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in his original trial. The second trial was ordered after the U.S. Supreme Court overturned Sheppard's conviction.

McMahon said that Sheppard's principal attorney, F. Lee Bailey of Boston, had not yet filed an expected motion for a change of venue.

Sheppard has manitained that a "bushy-haired" intruder broke into his suburban Bay Village home July 4, 1954, bludgeoned his pregnant wife, Marilyn and escaped.

In throwing out Sheppard's conviction last June, the high court said his trial was marked by prejudicial news coverage and a circus atmosphere in the courtroom.

The hydrofoil ship Victoria was launched in Baltimore in July, 1965. She is designed to carry as many as 75 passengers across Puget Sound between Seattle, Washington and Victor B.C.

Pupils Urged To Back Pickets In Richmond

RICHMOND (AP) — Striking employes — not teachers — in Richmond district schools urged parents by radio and leaflet today:

"Teach your children the historic role of the labor picket line, the civil rights picket line.

"Tell your child about the picket line he'll encounter in front of his school. Tell him not to cross it."

On strike seeking 5 to 10 per cent pay boosts is the AFL-CIO Union of Public Employes which includes janitors, gardeners and cafeteria employes at 61 elementary, junior and senior high schools in Richmond, El Cerrito, San Pablo, El Sobrante, Pinole and Kensington.

The requests would raise the basic scale from $340 to $450 a month for the 765 in the jurisdiction the union claims.

An estimated 150 of those in that classification struck Monday with the backing of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers.

Attendance was 41,215 on the walkout's first day, down 506 from last year and about 1,000 less than expected.

Denzil E. Widel, district school superintendent, said 12 elementary school and 107 secondary school teachers refused to cross picket lines and 20 others reported they were sick. About 1,150 went to work.

Among the absent teachers was Milton Spinner, Richmond mayor and a history teacher at Adams Janior High.

The board of education, Widel said, is considering whether to seek an injunction against the walkout.

Paying the demands, he estimated, would use up $194,000 of the district's $200,000 reserve fund.

Fairfax Studies Design Review

The Fairfax City Council last night considered an amendment to the zoning ordinance which would create a three-member design review board.

The proposed board would consider all buildings except single-family homes. The exception to this rule would be homes that are more than six-feet from the ground at the lowest point of enclosure.

Councilmen referred the proposal back to the planning commission to be scheduled for a public hearing.

ART REVIEW

Past Prize Winners Offer Varied Look

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Don't look for order or consistency in the Mill Valley Art Festival prize winners' show. There isn't any, which is both the point and the fun of it.

This exhibit, through Oct. 13 in the new Mill Valley Public Library, is a retrospective. It covers nine years of award-winning work, and with that much span you could expect variety.

For example, 1957 and 1958 were big years for realism, with paintings depicting a carousel, still life, cityscapes, dead ducks and a yacht harbor. By the time you get to 1965 you have a little bit of everything.

Also, this exhibit includes no up-dated substitutes. Every winner in it is the real thing. To try to give a show like this a "look" or "image" when it includes 35 pieces by different artists done over such a stretch, could make the assembling seem myopic. Instead, it is hung to elaborate on the differences so that each piece stands out on its own.

Jane Bacher's painting, a bright, crisp bit of whimsey from its cat to its castle, is hung right along side Ted Cristensen's fog-soft Marin landscape. Next to this are an open, black and white non-objective by Gwen Stone and a tight, almost primitive landscape by Elsie Pomeroy. It is the same all around the room with the exception of one area devoted to a small but good looking group of crafts.

However, every show, even a prize winners,' has its standouts. Three from 1964 especially linger: Henry Rasmusen's beautifully refined monopainting in blues and violets, Sue McCall's bold abstract oil, and Bill Johnson's painting of a jet plane which is bluntly powerful enough to flatten nearly everything in the room.

In a prize show, to include popular awards usually detracts from the level of the other winners. But again, this show has no "look." Further, their inclusion here presents one fascinating study in crowd psychology.

Maybe the voters thought better of their choice. Maybe others reacted to it and came back in a body next year to avenge it. Anyway, in 1960 the award was presented to a spidery winter landscape. It was large, arresting, and really quite abstract. A year later, it went to an ordinary little desert scene complete with sand, purple mountains, and a great big yucca plant.

JURIES OF PAST

Set to preview and coincide with the 10th Annual Mill Valley Arts Festival, Oct. 8 and 9, when new winners will be chosen, it is interesting to see, in this composite way, what juries have found deserving in the past.

It also happens to be the first exhibit installed in the new library's basement gallery and it is worth the trip just to see this handsome addition to civic buildings in Marin.

West Marin Finds Funds Dwindling

The West Marin School District Board, finding its funds for additions to West Marin School being eaten up by unexpected changes, last night asked the county counsel's office to send a representative to a Sept. 26 meeting to discuss legal recourses available.

The special meeting will be at 8 p.m. at West Marin School in Point Reyes Station, where the building program is under way.

Supt. Howard F. Brose said the $246,000 bond-financed program is in trouble because of architectural deviations between existing buildings and the additions. These were not discovered until work started, he said, because the district does not have the architect's plans of the existing building.

The board instructed Brose to convey its regrets to the family of Paul R. Stouffer, teacher and assistant principal at West Marin School who died Saturday at 55. A substitute teacher has assumed his teaching load temporarily.

The West Marin School District Board also:

1. Hired Mrs. Martha Meyer of Corte Madera at $7,000 to teach remedial reading and work in the library, and Mrs. Jeannette Tanner of Inverness, a halftime teacher's aid in fifth through eighth grades at $1,620.

2. Discussed the curriculum for the current year, including a phonic-linguistic approach to reading in the first grade.

Marin Symphony Sets Auditions

Auditions for the Marin Symphony Orchestra will be held at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in the band room of Tamalpais High School, announced James G. Chesnut, personnel manager of the orchestra.

He said positions are open for violin, string bass, trombone, tuba and percussion instrumentalists.

The auditions will be preceded at 7:30 p.m. by the first rehearsal of the orchestra under direction of Sandor Salgo.

Thanksgiving has not always been a favorite American holiday. Thomas Jefferson denounced it as a "monarchial practice" and refused to observe it. Prior to the Civil War, many Southerners ignored Thanksgiving as a Yankee custom. Abraham Lincoln revived the holiday and set aside the last Thursday of November as a national observance.

Rural Chinese Resisting Onslaughts By Red Guards

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China' Red Guards are meeting stiff resistance as they push the cultural revolution from Peking into the countryside, Japanese correspondents reported today.

They reported that a crowd of 100,000 battled the yotuhful guards at Kweilin in southern China when the reformers demanded the resignation of the city's mayor and that army troops were called in to restore order.

In another development, Peking's official New China News Agency indicated that Premier Chou En-lai has been removed from his post as vice chairman of the Chinese Communist party. However, he apparently retained the premiership.

The Japanese correspondents reported from Peking that the clash at Kweilin, a city some 250 miles northwest of Canton, was one of several in a number of cities involving the Red Guards and local peasants and laborers.

The clash at Kweilin was reported by the correspondent of Yomiuri Shimbun.

The Peking People's Daily said yesterday the students have made "certain mistakes," but added "no matter what the pretext, fighting between the students and farmers and laborers must not be permitted."

The reports of violence indicated that official advice in the People's Daily urging the Red Guards to stop using force and asking others to accept the cultural revoltuion was not taking effect.

Horse Show Planned

Southern Marin Horsemen's Assn. will hold an open schooling show at 9 a.m. at the association arena in Mill Valley.

Contest To Create West Weekend Sign

A contest to create a new insignia for Western Weekend was announced today for school children in Novato.

The contest closes on Oct. 15, according to Ann Trumbull, Western Weekend, Inc., director. There are three prizes, $25 first, $15 second, and $10 third.

Divorce Granted To Lucia Towne

An interlocutory decree of divorce was granted Lucia Johnson Towne of Belvedere, one time New York debutante, yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

She had sued her husband, Edward Bancroft Towne Jr. on grounds of cruelty.

The couple, who resided at 16 Windward Road, wed in New York City in 1949. They separated last Aug. 14.

Brown Sees Cuts In Jobless Taxes

SAN MATEO (AP) — Gov. Brown told a businessmen's group in San Mateo today that California employers with full time workers will have their unemployment insurance payments reduced 7 per cent beginning next year.

Brown, in a re-election campaign swing through the Bay Area, spoke earlier in Daly City on the prospects of easing school property tax burdens and improving classroom instruction quality.

Later in San Jose the Democratic governor blasted the views of his Republican opponent, Ronald Reagan, on unemployment insurance and welfare programs.

In a text prepared for his San Mateo address, Brown said "record high employment in California coupled with reduced unemployment will save the employers of our state some $23 million in calendar year 1967."

Brown added, "Record employment levels and steadily reduced unemployment resulted in the last fiscal year in a surplus in the state unemployment fund, a surplus which by law will be passed on to employers in the form of lower unemployment insurance taxes the following calendar year."

In his text prepared for his Daly City address before parents and educators Brown said he would submit five proposals to the legislature next year to meet the demands of education and property tax relief.

Brown said he would ask for:

The raising of state contributions to public schools and the reduction of property taxes so that the state would share an average of 50 per cent of the cost of education.

The extension of laws now reducing class size in the first, second and third grades so they would cover all elementary school grades.

The supplying of risk capital to local schools to design better teaching methods, to expand the use of educational television and to create a statewide network of model schools for the future.

The modernizing of statistical training in high schools and junior colleges.

State funds for a program to start children in California schools at the age of four.

Johnson Vetoes Increase In Federal Insurance Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has vetoed a $90-million increase in government employe insurance benefits, declaring it is inflationary and inconsistent with his call for restraint in federal spending.

Johnson announced his veto of the insurance bill at a hastily called news conference in his office saying, "At a time when we are making every effort to reduce low-priority federal spending in other areas, this bill cannot be justified."

"Many members of Congress share my belief that our anti-inflationary efforts must include restraint on spending," he added. "The measure I have vetoed today is totally inconsistent with our common goal."

Johnson said if similar benefits were extended to all American workers by their employers "we would be fueling the fires of inflation by nearly $3 billion."

He said average federal salary and insurance benefits had risen by 75 per cent in the past 10 years — more than half again as much as the 47 per cent increase in average factory worker pay.

"The bill goes far beyond my recommendations — and far beyond anything the American taxpayer should be asked to pay for at this time," Johnson said. He had recommended a $12 million insurance benefit increase.

City Review Of Gate Span Urged

San Francisco supervisors yesterday heard fellow board member Jack Morrison urge that Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors cooperate with that city in planning a second deck on the bridge be submitted for review by San Francisco's controller, planning commission and public works and recreation and park departments, all of which in turn would present their recommendations to the board of supervisors.

The board then referred a resolution proposed by Morrison and incorporating these suggestions to its streets and transportation committee.

Ex-Priest Tells Why He Defected To Russ

MOSCOW (AP) —An American told millions of Russians on Moscow television tonight he gave up the Roman Catholic priesthood in Chicago and defected to the Soviet Union to make an effective protest against what he termed "the savagery of the war in Viet Nam."

Earlier the U.S. Embassy asked the Soviet Foreign Ministry for permission to see him. The Foreign Ministry said the request would be considered.

The American identified himself as Harold M. Koch of Chicago, and as a former priest and public school teacher in Chicago.

Reading calmly from a prepared statement, the 34-year-old bespectacled Koch told an interviewer in English: "With the increasing savagery of the war in Viet Nam it became more and more evident that I must make an effective protest."

He said it was impossible to protest in the United States, because participation in antiwar demonstrations jeopardized his teaching career and his chances to earn a doctorate degree.

He said he "came here to speak freely without threat of the consequences."

County To Widen War On Poverty

The Marin county board of supervisors today approved an agreement for countywide operation of the War on Poverty instead of pinpointing Marin City as the principal target area.

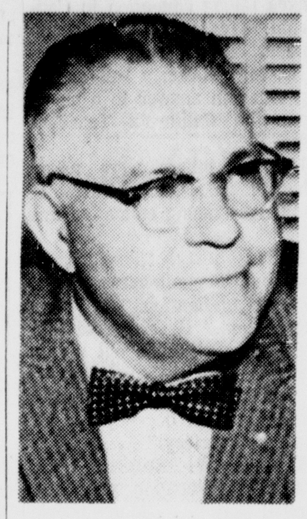
The agreement is between the county of Marin and the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, a non-profit corporation, by-laws of which will be diescussed next Tuesday by the board of supervisors.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen accepted an agreement that would make Marin City a target area but argued that other target areas in the county be established. He was particularly interested in getting organizations such as the Marin Senior Coordinating Council to administer War on Poverty among the elderly.

The agreement passed today commits the county to allocate $12,000 to the Economic Opportunity Council, which will qualify the council for a yearly $120,000 in federal funds.

No money will be forthcoming, the supervisors made plain, until the board has approved the by-laws which will establish the membership of the council and the target areas.

A requirement that cities put up matching funds for target areas within their borders was stricken from the agreement at suggestion of Supervisor Peter H. Behr, who said this might lead to friction between the cities and the county. Kettenhofen supported this, saying, "The purpose of the War on Poverty is to get people off welfare rolls. The county pays the welfare, not the cities, so it is a county responsibility."



NATIONAL AWARD — Fred R. Dickson of Corte Madera has received the annual American Correctional Assn., award for outstanding achievement in the corrections field. Now chairman of the California Adult Authority, Dickson was warden at San Quentin prison from 1957 to 1964.

Mill Valley Park Plan Updating Held Needed

A 10-year-old master plan for parks and recreation in Mill Valley should be updated and implemented during the next five years, the city parks and recreation commission agreed last night.

Review of the Livingston plan, adopted in 1956, will start at the Sept. 26 meeting of the commission. First to be reviewed will be sections dealing with Cascare Park, Cascade Reservoir, and Three Wells Park.

The commission also urged the State Park Commission to use the $4 million allocated for expansion of Mount Tamalpais State Park to buy privately held land, not land owned by Marin Municipal Water District.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission also:

1. Endorsed proposition 3 on the November ballot, which would reduce property tax assessments on open areas.

2. Approved a recommendation by Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos to hire fewer boys under the city's summer work program next year, so fewer city employees will be required to supervise the youths. The boys will be paid $1.50 an hour for an eight-hour day, instead of $1.25 an hour for a four-hour day.

3. Asked the city council to hire a landscaping consultant for Project 17.

Dog Blamed For Critical Crash Injury

Norvin D. Wells, 32, was critically injured when his sports car overturned on Shoreline Highway as he tried to avoid a dog near Poplar Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, at 12:30 a.m. today.

Wells, of 513 Brookline Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, was placed in the intensive care unit of Marin General Hospital with severe head injury and multiple facial cuts.

Wells was driving west about 40 miles per hour when his car swerved, skidded broadside, and overturned into a ditch, reported Officer E. N. McClintick of the California Highway Patrol. Wells was found unconscious, pinned beneath his car.

A witness, Guy E. Torrey, 24, of 42 Rodeo Avenue, Sausalito, said he saw a large German Shepherd dog cross the road as Wells' car rolled into the ditch. Wells is an engineer with Raymond-Murphy Co., San Francisco.

McCARTHY SAYS

State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) has assailed Gov. Brown for ellegedly contradicting himself in describing the record of his administration.

"First," McCarthy told a meeting of the Novato Republican Women's Club at Nave Lanes, "he says California's prosperity is unequalled and uninterrupted, and then he proposes a multimillion-dollar program to solve the unemployment problem.

"First, he declares the economy is on an even keel because of his vast spending program, and then he suddenly agrees with President Johnson that heavy government is a major cause of the inflationary spiral."

McCarthy is running for reelection in the reapportioned Fourth District.

SLOAN APPOINTED

Frank M. Sloan of 5 Von Court, Fairfax, president of the Corte Madera chapter of the California Republican Assembly, has been appointed a director-at-large at the state level of the organization.

Hearing Set On San Rafael General Plan

The San Rafael general plan, after more than three years of preparation and revision, will be given public hearing before the San Rafael City Council at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

The plan, which anticipates an eventual city of 125,000 residents, was approved July 19 by the city planning commission.

It provides for the orderly development of the city, setting forth its residential, industrial and recreational and conservation areas, calls for population density according to area and terrain, and lays out the boulevards and thoroughfares for moving the expanded population through the city and within its borders.

While it will not have the binding force of law, it will serve as a guide to the planning commission, the city council and other public and private agencies.

House Burglar Gets Beer Keg

Theft of a 2½-gallon keg of beer from the home of Deno A. Bassoni, 219 Foster Avenue, Kentfield, was reported yesterday by sheriff's officers.

Bassoni said entry was via an unlocked door.

Francine N. Renner reported her house at 399 Orange Blossom Lane, Terra Linda, was entered and an undetermined amount of silverware taken. No forced entry was evident, deputies said.

San Rafael police booked two 13-year-old Fairfax girls at Juvenile Hall yesterday after Catherine Foltz, an employee at the Emporium, said she caught them trying to steal clothing worth $72.96.

Coin Book Stolen

Mary C. Ashby of 35 Ross Street, San Rafael complained to police today that someone stole a book of her husband's penny collection from the glove compartment of her car while it was parked in the driveway last night. She said she does not know the value of the collection.

Suspects In Forgery Flee Policeman

Two youths sought by San Rafael police in connection with a forgery case led a patrolman on a frantic footrace through the city's streets yesterday afternoon.

Officer Gary Hassfeld found Dennis Yates, 20, and a 17-year-old boy, both of San Rafael, at Fourth Street and Tamalpais Avenue at 2:30 p.m. When he stopped to quesiton them, the two ran in opposite directions.

Hassfeld ran after the boy, who led him down Tamalpais to the Greyhound Bus Depot, then back up the same street and into the creek under the San Rafael Overpass.

Hassfeld said he fired two warning shots while chasing the boy along the creek, but they failed to stop him. The chase led Hassfeld over backyard fences to Stevens Place, where the boy disappeared. A resident of that block later said he saw the boy running toward Highway 101.

San Rafael police today were to ask for the arrest of Yates, the youth Hassfeld did not follow. He has allegedly been identified from photographs as having cashed two forged checks stolen from Milton C. Beck of 633 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia.

Police said they also want to question the 17-year-old boy in connection with the case.

Ex-Boxer Knifed At San Quentin

Ignacio (Kenny) Terran, 35, once a leading bantamweight boxer in the Los Angeles area, was in good condition at the San Quentin Prison hospital today after being stabbed three times during a scuffle in the prison's main yard.

Associate warden James W. L. Park said a prison guard broke up the fight near a dominoes game by firing a warning shot. A suspect, David Greenade, 26, serving a six month to 20 year tearm for attempted murder, burglary and auto theft, is being questioned, Park said.

Teran is serving a five to 20 year term for narcotics possession. Park said cause of the prison yard fight is unknown.

Motor Boat Stolen

Wayne B. Frederich of the Western Boat Shop at 101 Third Street, San Rafael, complained to San Rafael police yesterday that someone stole a boat and motor worth $225 form a lot next to his shop sometime Thursday. He was late reporting the theft, he said, because he thought his partner had already done so.

Sausalito Trustees To Select Architects

Three of nine architectural firms seeking selection as architect for the Sausalito School District were named last night as finanlists by the district board.

The three firms, all of San Francisco, are: Weisback, Boutmy and Silver; Marshall and Bowles, and Callister and Rosse. Trustees are to select a firm following visits on Sunday to buildings designed by the three.

Supt. Phillip W. Schneider told the board that he would check with the state division of architecture to ensure that district schools meet structural standards for earthquakes set in 1933 by the Field Act.

The board hired four teachers: Gregory Baines, at $7,500 for the learning center at Central School; Mrs. Alice Goss, at $9,750 for fourth grade at Central School; William Hughes, at $8,250 for seventh grade at Richardson Bay School, and Harvey Perlman, at 8,250 for counselor at Central School.

Corte Madera Asks Site For Post Office

The Corte Madera planning commission last night asked postmaster Edward J. Victor to recommend that a self-service post office, to be installed in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, be located in the center's south parking lot facing the freeway.

Victor agreed to make the recommendation to the Post Office department.

The commission approved plans for an addition to the Corte Madera sanitary district's main pumping station at 5702 Paradise Drive, and denied Joe H. Stewart's application for a free-standing sign at 215 Tamalpais Drive.

Mrs. Donald Dowling withdrew her application to establish a child day care center at 17 Foremast Course.

Congress Voting Record Revealed

These are votes cast by California's two senators and Rep. Donald H. Clausen (R-Crescent City) of the First District, which includes Marin County, in recent roll calls:

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Cal.) voted with the majority when the Senate passed the compromise $3.5 billion foreign aid authorization bill by a 33-25 margin. Sen. George L. Murphy (R-Cal.) did not vote.

On the motion in the House, rejected 163-183, to delay effective date of $1.60 hourly minimum wage a year to February, 1969, Rep. Donald H. Clausen (R-Crescent City) voted with the minority. Clausen voted affirmatively when the House voted 250-89 to amend the Fair Labor Standards Act to require a $1.40 hourly minimum wage starting Feb. 1, 1967, and $1.60 per hour a year later.

Clausen voted against the bill to give federal agencies more authority to regulate interest rates on savings deposits, but it passed 271-68.

The board gave its support to the George W. Blackwell Bill against double taxation of city residents.

Ernest Jones, an employee at Pete's Pier 16 at 2007 Bridgeway, Sausalito, reported to police today that someone during the night entered the restaurant and pried open the cash register, cigarette machine, juke box and rear storage room. All, however, had been emptied of cash yesterday, he said.

Political Volunteers Cross Parties' Lines

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A member of the Republican State Central Committee has announced he'll campaign for re-election of Democratic Gov. Brown.

And two Democrats, including a member of the California Democratic Central Committee, say they'll be Southern California co - chairmen of a Californians for Reagan Committee. Ronald Reagan is Brown's Republican opponent.

A. Marco Turk, a Los Angeles attorney, said yesterday he was resigning as a member of the Republican State Central Committee and a state vice president and director of the California Republican League.

"I am convinced Ronald Reagan is either an extremist himself, or he has sold himself to ultra right-wingers," said Turk.

Meanwhile, Y. Frank Freeman, vice president of Paramount Pictures Corp., and attorney George W. Rochester, member of the Democratic Central Committee, said they will lead the Californians for Reagan Committee in an appeal for Democrats and independents to support the GOP nominee.

"The committee will provide direction for these Reagan supporters who are anxious to contribute valuable grass - roots campaign activities," the two said in a joint statement.

State School Leaders Tell Diverse Aims

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Disrespect for the law, for decency and for common courtesy" is one of the main challenges facing education in California, says the state superintendent of public instruction.

Dr. Max Rafferty was speaking today in answer to a query from the California Teachers Assn.

He and others were asked what they considered the chief challenges facing education this fall.

Said Rafferty, "The permanent, built-in challenges remain: money, unification, de facto segregation." He also said that "If I were to single out a special target for the coming year, it would have to be disrespect for the law, for decency and for common courtesy."

Thomas W. Braden, State Board of Education president, replied that ". . . Many people believe that the real purpose of schools is to turn out happy, well-adjusted citizens. I have no quarrel with this aim, but I think it is secondary . . . we may produce empty-headed citizens who are happy but also dangerous."

Said Mrs. Laurence B. Martin, State Parent-Teachers Assn. president: ". . . the major challenge . . . must be the twin problems of school finance and tax reform."

Clayton Record, California School Boards Assn. president: " . . . providing education. . . which will develop . . . more useful, mature citizens fully capable of communicating in a world which leaves little time for second guesses."

LARRY BRINK

USED CARS in MILL VALLEY

Dependable Cars are sold by Dependable Men

You can depend on the salespeople that work here. They have been selling CONTINENTALS and all makes of used cars at LARRY BRINK'S for years. And people have been depending on LARRY BRINK for fine cars since 1955. No boss in the back room to try and get your trade below actual cash value! No boss in the back room telling the salesman to go out and try and confuse the potential buyers into paying more than any offer they have made. NO NONSENSE. The sale price of EVERY CAR is plainly marked on the windshield. That is why folks everywhere say that we are easy to deal with. Here are a few examples from our large inventory of SELECT USED CARS — each one carries our 12-MONTH SELECT USED CAR WARRANTY.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Newly Developed Vaccine Could Wipe Out Old Scourge Of Mumps

VAN DELLEN

Mumps may be eliminated if the encouraging report on the new vaccine holds up. The preventive was 97 per cent effective among 1,400 preschool and school-age youngsters who were exposed to natural mumps.

The studies were conducted in the Havertown - Springfield community near Philadelphia by Maurice R. Hilleman, Ph.D. Susceptible children who received the vaccine did not develop the usual manifestations and blood tests demonstrated that protective anti-bodies formed after the product was administered.

Mumps is caused by a virus that prefers the salivary glands. The first symptoms appear 16 to 21 days after exposure with fever, loss of appetite, headache and malaise. Many also complain of an earache which is located near the lobe and is aggravated by chewing. The parotid gland just in front of the ear begins to swell within the next two or three days. Both sides are involved in 70 per cent of the victims. The swelling may occur simultaneously or the second side may follow up to a week later. As a rule, enlargement is painful and persists up to 11 days. The smaller submaxillary gland under the jaw also may swell.

Mumps is regarded as a harmless disease in children but we know that the causative virus is capable of spreading to almost every organ of the body. Inflammation of the testes (orchitis) is the most common complication in mature men. This painful swelling occurs in 20 to 30 percent but is present on both sides in only 2 per cent. Sterility ensues only if both sides are involved. However, complete destruction of one testis is rare and of both testicles is even rarer. Children do not develop this complication.

Mumps encephalitis is said to occur with or without involvement of the salivary glands. The heart also may be affected. Complete recovery is the rule. It is for these reasons that we are happy to know that the vaccine has the potential for eliminating the disease.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

SORE KNEES

G. R. Q. writes: I'm 40 years old and when I bend my knees they hurt. Is this the start of arthritis?

REPLY

It may be the beginning of osteoarthritis which represents the wear and tear of the aging process. But the same symptom can be caused by a disturbance in the ligaments, tendons, or fascia surrounding the knee joint. Hence examination would be needed before your question can be answered.

HAND CRAMPING

Mrs. H. L. writes: My aged mother is awakened every night with cramps in her hands. Is there anything we can do to help her?

REPLY

Your mother needs a physical examination because the causes of this disorder vary from poor circulation and anemia to pressure on a nerve in the wrist or neck.

LINIMENT RUBS

Mrs. D. writes: Are liniments used any more to relieve aching joints?

REPLY

Yes, and they are relatively effective in mild or moderate pain and stiffness associated with osteoarthritis or muscular rheumatism. The good effects stem from the accompanying massage and the sensation of heat.

SINUS ORIGIN

M. S. writes: Is sinus trouble a form of allergy?

REPLY

Some cases are caused by allergy, but in the majority, bacterial invasion is responsible.

Today's Health Hint—

Daily exercise requires planning.

The Biggest Catch Ever

SHIPROCK, N.M. (AP) — When Earl McGrath of Marysville, Calif., hooked onto a trout in the San Juan River below Navajo Dam in northern New Mexico, he knew he had something.

He did.

Twenty minutes later he landed a 10-pound 15½ ounce rainbow trout measuring 25½ inches.

The catch is the largest ever registered with the New Mexico Game and Fish Department.

McGrath used a six foot spinning rod carrying 200 yards of monofilament line and a bucktail fly and flasher spoons attached to a yellow, black-dotted body with a treble hook.

Castle Converted To Museum Of Art

BUDAPEST (AP)—Hungary's massive Buda castle towering over the Danube river will become the Hungarian Louvre, the news agency MTI said.

The former Hapsburg castle burned down during World War Two. The Hungarian government already spent 335 million forints ($290 million) to turn it into a museum. The renovation is being completed in 1970.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Eye Contract Before Signing

When it comes to legal contracts, you can change your mind, but you cannot change your signature. The words on the paper you signed are binding upon you. Sometimes the other person may be willing to let you off, take back the goods, or ease your debt in other ways. But if not, you should be prepared to pay up.

Read what you are signing. Don't listen to the salesman if what he tells you is not written down in your contract. Don't sign if he has not filled in all blanks. Don't sign if you hear "this is merely our standard form contract."

Know what you sign, what it costs, what you get, and be sure and get a copy of the completed contract.

Not long ago an unemployed father who could afford no better housing than a condemned home, got word from the city to fix his house, or tear it down. He went out and signed a contract for repairs that were supposed to cost him only $700. He got no copy of the contract which contained blanks. When the work was done, he got a letter from the contracting firm. It said that he must pay $87 a month for seven years, a total of $7,308, ten times what he thought he was paying. In Los Angeles alone, there were over 4,000 situations like this which came up through the legal aid foundation.

If you don't understand, don't sign the contract. Tell the person you are dealing with that you want your attorney to read the document. Don't let him tell you it's a standard form, or that it can't be allowed off the premises. When somebody says that, beware. Have no more to do with them.

If there are special word-of-mouth agreements not written down in the printed contract, tell the other party to write them in and initial them. Then, keep your copy where you can find it. Whenever you have to sign a contract, ask yourself: What is the worst thing that can happen if I can't pay? If it is more than you can handle, get your attorney to tell you exactly what it means and what will happen if either party fails to do his part. He cannot always tell you if it is wise to sign that contract, but he can tell you what your advantages and your duties are. And he can also keep you out of legal traps.

Coming Home Takes A While

BELEN, N.M. (AP)—Jim DeVocht, 18, finished his freshman year at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, and bicycled home — 600 miles. He averaged about 100 miles a day.

Most nights he slept at homes of friends along the way. He had problems with mountain climbing and pavement so hot that his tires stuck to it. He also had a screw that repeatedly came loose which he tightened with a dime because his screwdriver was too big.

DeVocht carried a spare tire, pump, tube repair kit, screwdriver, wrenches and a sleeping bag — weight about 30 pounds. He spent about $40. He said, "I'm glad I did it, but I will never try it again."

Soviet Astronaut Former Steel Worker

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Soviet astronaut Yuri Gagarin's original profession was a foundryman, the Czechoslovak news agency reported.

C.T.K. reported this in connection with a visit of Gagarin to a steel plant in Kosice, Eastern Slovakia, where he donned a foundry worker's suit and did some steel work.

New corn starch derivatives developed as ingredients for insulating foam are being tested for use in paints.

Cow Almost Started Battle In Pakistan

NEW DELHI (AP) — A report from Indian forces at the Pakistan front said a cow recently awakened an entire regiment and sent it to battle stations in the middle of the night.

The report said a rope was run from frontline sentries and tied to the foot of a soldier sleeping at the rear. On feeling a tug he was to awaken the regiment. One night a cow tripped over the rope.

Eagle Is Caught On Fishing Line

PLAV, Yugoslavia (AP) — Branko Prascevic was out at his favorite rapids in the River Lim, but he just wasn't catching any trout.

He made one last desperate cast and even before his hook hit the water he had a strike. It was a fight to haul it in, but he had hooked an eagle in a tree overhead.

He released the bird afterward.

Gardiner To Host Udall Fund Event

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court will host a Democratic fund-raising reception honoring Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall at 8 p.m. today at his home.

Invitations to the affair at the Gardiner home at 30 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, read: "The Democratic Committee to re-elect Governor Brown cordially invites you to attend an after-dinner reception honoring Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall." They ask $25 per couple from those attending.

The Canons of Judicial Ethics for California courts note that "it is inevitable that suspicion of being warped by his political bias will attach to a judge who becomes the active promoter of the interests of one political party or candidate as against another," and advise:

"He should avoid making partisan political speeches, making or soliciting payment of assessments or contributions to party funds, the public endorsement of candidates for political office."

The canons are published as an appendix to California Rules of Court.

Leashing Law To Be Studied

The San Anselmo City Council will discuss the possibility of a city leash law today at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The council may authorize calling for bids on a street sweeper estimated to cost $14,000, and improvement of part of Parking Lot A, estimated at $12,000.

The council will receive the resignation of Jerry W. Lloyd from the planning commission.

A city-initiated rezoning of property at Hilldale and Forbes avenues from commercial to residential, and removal of trees from the corner of Tamalpais Avenue and Cedar Street will be considered.

Atherton Club Gets Permit

The Atherton Club of Novato will be allowed to install a cocktail lounge, bar and restaurant on its premises, subject to annual renewal of the permit.

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday approved the bar and restaurant for Douglas Hertz, owner of the club at Olive Street and Atherton Avenue.

Hertz objected to the annual renewal requirement, complaining that the "discretionary power of the zoning administrator gives him life-and-death control."

TELEVISION REVIEW

'Iron Horse' Arrives And It's Not Bad

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —I know that hardly anyone will believe me—I just know it—but Dale Robertson's new ABC-TV western series, "Iron Horse," which arrived last night, wasn't bad at all. There were nine premieres on the three networks, and his was among the most entertaining. That's how awful a night it was.

"Iron Horse" is an hour entry about a charming, iron-fisted con man-gambler who wins a railroad in a poker game and decides to fight it through the wilderness. The details don't matter much in westerns, of course—it's how they're played. And there I sat, to my considerable surprise, as the new show made the right move of not trying to make too much sense, not taking itself too seriously—just attempting to be entertaining in a good-humored, rip-roaring way.

As the newly rich, lady-killing gambler, Robertson showed the right flair, and there were some slam-bang yet witty fights, and Gary Collins, Bob Random and Roger Torrey were the boss man's good-natured, appealing sidekicks. Diana Hyland was luscious as a blonde who went with the private railroad car Robertson bought. Maybe that's why I didn't mind "Iron Horse."

The show that seemed to have "hit" written all over it, however, was CBS-TV's half-hour comedy, "Run, Buddy, Run," about a young man who accidentally overhears a secret gangster meeting in a steam bath and then is pursued endlessly by the mob. It has that unmistakable CBS situation comedy feel—and impression of an icily constructed, commercially shiny product that whams you again and again, with no one's intelligence overestimated, like "The Beverly Hillbillies" and "Hogan's Heroes."

As the pursued young man, Jack Sheldon, an undoubted comedy talent, is sort of an amiable schnook in his portrayal. Bruce Gordon, who played Frank Nitti on "The Untouchables" series, is the bigtime hood who is on his trail.

Over at NBC-TV, meanwhile, there have been better nights. The premiere of the half-hour Roger Miller variety show, for instance, was a very slapdash affair, except for a wonderful takeoff on a rock 'n' roll singer by guest star Bill Cosby. I had the sneaking suspicion that Miller, an individual fellow, was somehow resisting NBC-TV's inevitable attempt to Perry Como-ize him, to Andy Williams-ize him: in short, to make him antiseptic, as is the network's wont.

The Koufax Story: 114 Silent Screams

JIM MURRAY

Imagine a steeplejack who gets dizzy at heights. A soldier who can't stand blood. A sword-swallower whose throat hurts. A bell ringer with an earache.

A claustrophobic commanding a submarine wouldn't be much fun. Or diamond cutting with cataracts. Pounding a beat with corns. Field goal kicking with gout.

You shouldn't have to earn your living at something that makes you scream. Or cough. Or bleed. You shouldn't have to sign for your paycheck with "ouch!"

Sandy Koufax does. Watch a Dodger ball game any fourth night and see nine innings of industrial accidents, 114 silent screams a game. A curve ball is as big a thrill as swallowing iodine. A fast ball is merely like tightening your arm in a vise by comparison — a downright relief.

The pain is self-inflicted — which means you have the added pleasure of knowing it is coming. You get $125,000 for going to the rack every four days. It takes the other three for the swelling to go down. Torquemada would have loved it. Pulling your own nails out with pliers is the nearest thing to it.

The plain fact of the matter is, Sandy Koufax shouldn't be throwing a baseball for a living. It is like a guy who has already got silicosis going back down in the mine, the tubercular seeking out a cold, damp climate.

The worst of it is you're not even supposed to complain. When someone says, "How does it feel to pitch another shutout, ace?" you are supposed to hide the swelling in a bucket of ice and say, "Swell!" Pun intended. It's like asking a guy how he likes the electric chair. I mean, "Is it comfortable, Scarface?" "Yeah, it's comfortable."

Sandy's position is complicated by the fact that (1) he's sick and tired of talking about his arthritis; (2) he is anxious to throw off the image of the athlete-aesthete, the reluctant-pitcher image we truthseekers have projected for him.

His opponent is nature. And tradition. Nature keeps trying to tell him to get into some other line of work. But Cooperstown is more persuasive. The tradition complication is that Sandy comes from a long line of great people who produced scholars, healers, theologians, not pitchers. Men of science, not violence. Adrift in a barbaric world, they converted these gifts into things that had universal coinage — jewels, paintings, knowledge. A curve ball is not one of these. Curve balls come from Mississippi, Texas, the San Fernando Valley.

Sandy battles this image the way he would a 3-and-2 count against Mays. He does not like to be referred to as a captive of his industry, to be held up as the only guy on the team bus who knows Count Tolstoi was not a band leader, and Freud is not an egg order.

Koufax is the most brilliant pitcher in history, if not the best. His career has glowed with an incandescence not even a Walter Johnson, Mathewson, Grove or Hubbell could match. His durability is something else. That's what has driven Sandy to risk gangrene, amputation, chronic inflammation — everything short of bubonic plague— to keep pitching. After an incu-

WELL-TIMED REST FOR THE BATTERED 49ERS

The rest and relaxation the San Francisco 49ers get this weekend comes at the right time for head coach Jack Christiansen.

"We have 10 or 15 people with one ailment or another," he said yesterday. "And the week's rest should take care of them."

The 49ers opened the regular National Football League season with a 20-20 tie against the Minnesota Vikings after losing their five exhibition games. Every NFL team gets one bye this season and the 49ers' comes Sunday.

"Mistakes are still hurting us," Christian said "By mistakes I mean missed assignments, such as blocking the wrong man. Last year we had a minimum of these mental mistakes, but we've had far too many this season."

When A Birdie Causes A Bogey; Stars Tourney May Net 20 G's

FORE!—Golf tradition calls for an ace-maker to buy drinks for the house and Nicasio restaurateur Nick Kobseff set up a round of Old Crow yesterday after an unusual shot at San Geronimo's National course.

No, Nick didn't get an ace; he got a birdie. One of his errant fairway shots sailed into an oak tree and killed a black bird. Witness to the execution was Brook Robinson who was almost as startled as Nick. And the black bird, of course. Nick scored a bogey on the hole.

KTIM SPORTSCASTER Bob Dinsmore's wife presented him with a brand new baby yesterday, their third son.

I LOVED that Chicago Cub substitution at Candlestick Sunday: Boccabella for Amalfitano. The Cubbies may be last in the N. L. but they're first in syllables.

JOHN J. CONNOLLY, the former I-J baseball columnist who underwent major surgery a couple of weeks ago, pens from his Southern California residence that he's up and around again, though still weak, and down to a trim 190 pounds. He also sends his heartfelt thanks to the more than 100 Marin friends who sent him get well messages during his trying ordeal.

MARIN COUNTY'S greatest golf attraction—the tournament with a heart—is only five days away and everything indicates another resounding success.

General Chairman Bill McDevitt today predicted next Sunday's third annual Marin Invitational Tournament of Stars at Peacock Gap would net $15,000 and possibly $20,000 for the Marin Youth Fund, whose principal beneficiaries are Marin Aid to Retarded Children and Marin Crippled Children's and Adults Society.

Compare this forecast with the 1964 net receipts of $3,500 and last year's $8,700. The baby is growing.

SUNDAY'S FIELD again will consist of 40 Hollywood personalities, including the likes of Donald O'Connor, Jim Backus, Robert Sterling, Forrest Tucker, Rowan and Martin, Clint Eastwood, Dennis Morgan, Gary Morton, Jim Davis, Richard Crenna and Robert Steele; crack amateur golfers like Western Amateur champ Jim Wiechers, San Rafael's own Ron Cerrudo, Jimmy French Jr., Bob Roos and Father Leonard Scannell, a number of sports "celebs" and 60 prominent Northern California businessmen. The latter group will shell out $150 each for the privilege of rubbing elbows with the glittering guests.

THE DAY-LONG show promises plenty of laughs along with a display of fine golf. And the price is right. The $2 gallery ticket also entitles you to a chance at a 1966 Chevy convertible, so run, do not walk to your nearest golf course where the ducats are on sale and going fast.

The stars will be flown to San Francisco Saturday afternoon and many of them will entertain at Saturday night's Stars Banquet, a $25 a plate funfest at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael. Following Sunday's tourney an awards dinner will be held at Peacock Gap, after which the Southern California visitors will fly home.

It will be another great weekend, I can promise you.

Juan On Mound At Candlestick

After 144 games, the San Francisco Giants still seek two men to play on either side of center fielder Willie Mays.

And that doesn't even begin to go into all their problems.

But they're still in third place in the National League within striking distance of the top and they still aspire to become the National League champions for 1966.

After dropping three of four to the last-place Chicago Cubs over the past weekend, Manager Herman Franks looked around and said, "None of us have swung the bat well."

Tonight they send their ace, Juan Marichal (22-6) against the still-hopeful Philadelphia Phillies and Larry Jackson (14-13) in the opening of a two-game set at Candlestick Park. After losing six of their last nine games in Candlestick and seven of eleven this month, the Giants can ill-afford too many more setbacks.

Meanwhile, baseball men delved into the Giant problem—and they are giant at this stage of the season.

Franks had high hopes for Ollie Brown as his regular right fielder. An impressive physical specimen with a powerful arm, Brown is batting only .227.

So he's been benched. Enter Frank Johnson, a late call-up from Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League. After three hits in his first four at-bats, Johnson has gone 0-for-8.

Jesus Alou has developed a sore arm but is playing left field these days because he's hitting. Following a poor start, he raised his average to nearly .260. But among his 80 hits is only one home run.

Len Gabrielson, who was expected to see a lot of action in the outfield this year, is batting .205 and now is used only as an occasional pinch hitter.

'Berets' Rescue Dodgers

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Black Maxers have dived underground, but the Blue Berets are soaring higher and higher.

Two members of the Blue Berets, relief pitchers Ron Perranoski and Phil Regan, wiped out the New York Mets last night and helped the Los Angeles Dodgers to their fifth straight victory, a 3-2 decision.

The triumph increased the Dodgers' National League lead to 1½ games over second-place Pittsburgh and 2½ over third-place San Francisco, both idle. In the only other game, California edged American League leading Baltimore 6-5.

The Black Maxers are—WERE possibly may be more accurate — a group of Pittsburgh Pirates whose viewing of the film, The Blue Max, triggered post-victory clubhouse antics that involved such wearing apparel as imitation German medals, World War I flying helmets and floppy hats.

The Maxers, however, toned down their victory celebrations after the antics were criticized.

The Blue Berets, on the other hand, carry out their antics on the field, and the only criticism they get is from the teams they beat.

ENEMY FIRE

The Berets, the Dodgers' brilliant relief corps that received the name because of the team's blue hats, merely sit out in the bullpen, wait until a Dodger pitcher gets trapped in the middle of enemy fire, then come in and snuff out the threat.

Regan, whose 13 victories and 16 saves make him the best Beret, even wrote a fight song for the group, a parody of the song of the Green Berets, a branch of the U.S. Army now fighting in Viet Nam.

"These are the men of the Blue Beret," Regan wrote, "waiting there for Alston's call; they are ready to give their all, Fighting Giants and the Reds, Day and night until they're dead . . . Fans will come and they will cheer, They will watch and then they'll say, 'These are the men of the Blue Beret.'"

Perranoski and Regan got the

Cerrudo's 72 Sets Record

Ron Cerrudo, San Rafael's golf whiz par excellence, added another feat to his already fat list of accomplishments yesterday.

Cerrudo set a course record in qualifying for the Northern California Golf Assn. Amateur Championship at Spyglass Hill Golf Course on the Monterery Peninsula by firing 36-36-72, one under the record set by professional Dick Lotz.

And he was unhappy about it, no less.

Cerrudo said he was unhappy about his putting. So were his competitors, probably.

The 21-year-old Marin golfer automatically became seeded into the field for match play, which starts tomorrow. He is the defending champion.

The other 63 spots will be awarded on a basis of low scores to qualifiers who complete their 36-hole tests with another round today.

CAPEHART, 93

Bob Capehart of Novato fired a 45-48-93 qualifying round yesterday.

George Kerrigan of San Rafael, who had been entered in the tourney, withdrew.

Jim Wiechers forsook any chance of winning the tournament, but for good reason. The star who graduated from Santa Clara in June announced he had applied for his Professional Golfers Assn. tournament players card, hereby going for some of that free-flying pro golf loot.

D. B. HOLCOMB fired an 83-19-64 to take first place in the Granddad Tournament at the Mill Valley municipal golf course Sunday.

Keeler Nash was second with an 81-16-65 and Elmer Norwick third at 87-21-66.

PREP GRID ROUNDUP

Jolt For Marin Catholic: Star Back Lost For Year

Marin Catholic High School football fans are still reeling today from the sad news that fullback John Komo, who figured to be a big part of the Wildcats' attack, is through before the season even starts.

Komo suffered a broken collarbone during last Friday's practice. It happened during a hitting drill as the team was getting ready for its opener Friday at Albany.

"He'll be out for the rest of the season," Marin Catholic coach Joel Kiff said.

Komo was expected to be a mainstay of Kiff's attack.

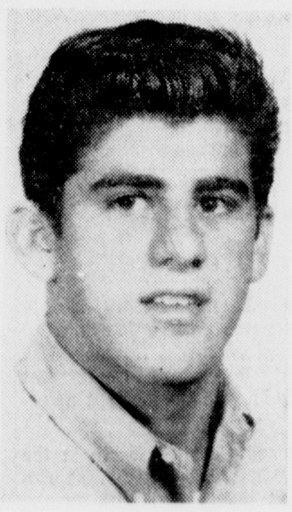
"We got a chance to look at some of the other kids in Saturday's intra-squad scrimmage," Kiff said. "But it's too early to tell yet.

"The boys did a real fine job Saturday," Kiff said. "They didn't let down because of what happened. I think they'll be ready."

NOVATO BRUISES

Novato also was missing some key faces.

Tackles Tom Hernberger and John Stewart both missed an intra-squad scrimmage as did fullback Mike Mazzoni and halfback Frank Perachiotti. Mazzoni is bothered by an infection, Perachiotti by a bruised heel, Hernberger by a bruised shoulder muscle and Stewart by fever. All are expected to be more or less ready for Friday's opener.



JOHN KOMO
Out for season

"Naturally, with those boys out, the defense dominated the scrimmage," Novato coach Al Scott said. "We can't really tell what we have yet. We'll have to wait until we have a game under our belt."

BULLDOGS HEALTHY

At San Rafael, there were no injuries but there was an intra-squad game. And coach Bob Muster was pleased with the work of his quarterback, Bill Joost.

"He looked just fine," Muster said.

San Rafael had a light workout, hoping to avoid serious injuries because of its lack of size.

In Terra Linda's intra-squad game, the Whites edged the Blues, 7-6.

"The defense looked great," coach Brad Squires said, "but our offense has a long way to go."

The defense also shone in Drake's intra-squad battle Saturday.

"I think we're coming along very well," coach Bob Franceschini said. "They've got all the basic stuff down. Now we'll get to work on the more complicated stuff."

REDWOOD SCORES

Redwood gridders held their annual Benchwarmers demonstration Friday night at College of Marin's Kentfield Stadium. The demonstration was attended by a crowd of about 700.

Following the demonstrations, the Giants scrimmaged for 40 minutes. The starting offensive team scored eight times. Senior quarterback Kevin Wilson's 39-yard run was the longest scoring play of the night, and Wilson also tossed a pass to halfback Harvey Hand for a score. Hand also ran a TD.

Other scores came from Royce Johnson, Joe Cooper, Rusty Poole, Stan Tobiason and Ward Johnson.

Tamalpais coach Willie Hector was pleased with his offense at Saturday's Tam scrimmage.

"We're ahead of last year," Hector said. It was Willie's first year as Tam head coach last year and all the faces were new. This time around he knew the faces.

"I know what we have now," he said. "The boys looked good. That offense really moved the ball."

Farley Named Head Of Little League

Hunting Trip Nets Huge Moose, Bear

Richard D. Hardin, owner of a van lines agency in San Rafael, has returned to Marin County from a successful hunting trip near Prince George, Canada.

Hardin shot himself a 700-pound moose on a trip a few miles north of Prince George. He also bagged a bear during the three-week trip.

STARS HEADED THIS WAY

Cal, Stanford, San Jose Sing Sad Tune

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coaches at California, Stanford and San Jose State all wish they had more time before their opening football games.

With the 1966 debuts slated for Saturday:

Coach John Ralston at Stanford feels the squad is a little behind where it should be and Coach Harry Anderson at San Jose State hasn't decided on a starting fullback.

At University of the Pacific, new coach Doug Scovil isn't sure just what to expect when his Tigers entertain Los Angeles State but he feels he has two solid quarterbacks in John Quaccia and Bob Lee.

Willsey's California Bears draw a Pacific Athletic Conference assignment at Spokane where they face the Washington State Cougars.

"With so much experience, WSU must be considered one of the best teams on the Pacific Coast at least on Sept. 17," the Cal coach told the initial meeting of the Northern California Football Writers and Sportscasters yesterday.

With a knee injury putting defensive tackle Dennis Bugbee out for the year, Willsey moved Bob Crittenden over from guard and moved Larry Lathrop into the first unit.

San Jose invades Stanford for the annual renewal of their neighborhood rivalry. They face sophomore quarterback Gene Washington and the prospect doesn't make Anderson happy. He remembers losing 26-6 in 1965.

"Last year the determining factor was Dave Lewis on broken plays. Imagine our thinking since they've brought in another boy better than Lewis. But if we can keep Washington from breaking loose, we'll have a real good chance."

The Spartans have no experience at fullback where Jim Townsend, Bob Hamilton, Jerrell Andrews and John Payne battle for the job.

Ralston declared, "The first game comes too quickly. We're not feeling we've solidified very well and we're still shuffling personnel."

As of now, his first team backfield has Washington, Jon Hess at running back, Jack Root at fullback and Bob Blunt at flanker. Ralston hopes defensive ace Mike Hibler, bothered by an ailing knee, will be ready for the opener.

Lewis, the regular quarterback last year, continued to work behind Washington but also sees service at running back, split end and flanker. Ralston hopes to have both in the starting alignment before long.

"I feel," concluded Ralston, "that we're a little behind where we should be."

Anderson wiped an imaginary tear from his eye.

PRO GRID NOTES

Kemp Pitches In Pain, A La Sandy

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Kemp, the Buffalo Bills' sore-armed quarterback, admits he's been throwing with pain, but he isn't about to start worrying about becoming the Sandy Koufax of the American Football League.

"There's pain," Kemp said, "and I don't have any zip. But it's coming along, and I'm really not worried. The only thing that worries me is that I haven't had as much game time as I need. But it's getting better, I've given up babying it and I'm encouraged."

Kemp's sore arm stems from some exercises he did the first week of training camp. The soreness has lingered longer than doctors expected but there is no risk of Kemp damaging the arm further if he plays — so he's been playing.

He has, however, been ineffective, completing only 6 of 21 passes last Sunday as the Bills lost to Kansas City 42-20 and dropped into the Eastern Division cellar with a 0-2 record in defense of their AFL title.

But Kemp's receivers also have been at fault, and Coach Joe Collier plans at least one change for this week's game against Miami, starting Arkansas rookie Bobby Crockett at split end in place of Glenn Bass.

Collier also said he also might be forced to make some changes in the diversified offensive system he installed when he took over for Lou Saban.

"We aren't going to panic," Collier said, admitting he was "disappointed but not discouraged. It is possible we have too much offense in our book, possibly too much for the younger players to absorb. If so, we'll have to simplify our offense."

WELL, NOW DEPT.: John Hadl, San Diego's quarterback, gained 30 yards rushing against Boston, more then last year's record-breaking Paul Lowe, who also happens to be Hadl's teammate.

But then the top three rushers from last year are all doing poorly. Lowe has rushed for only 57 yards in 25 tries, Clem Daniels of Oakland has picked up just 21 in 23 carries and Denver's Cookie Gilchrist is AWP — Absent With Permission.

GEORGE WILSON JR., son of the Miami coach, set a league record by booting 10 punts for 483 yards in the Dolphins' game against New York...Boston and San Diego also set one in the punting department by booting 20 between them...Mike Garrett, the Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California, returned a punt 79 yards for a touchdown for Kansas City and is the only AFL player among the leaders in both punt and kickoff returns...Bert Coan's 101 yards gained on the ground for the Chiefs against Buffalo was the first 100-yard rushing day for anyone this season...

COAN, THE bad-boy halfback who finally may be ready to live up to his potential, drew a rave notice from Buffalo linebacker Harry Jacobs, who almost broke into poetry.

"I had him twice, at the line of scrimmage," Jacobs said, "and he broke away both times for long gainers.

"He gave me a leg and took it away. Where it went I do not know."

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS

'Green Monster' Set For Try At Record

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Former world land speed king Art Arfons will leave Ohio tomorrow bound for Utah where he will put his jet-powered racer through tests on the Bonneville Salt Flats.

Arfons, of Akron, is expected to arrive in Utah this weekend and set up camp on the salt flats for test runs scheduled to begin Sunday.

Arfons' racer, the Green Monster, has been modified considerably since last fall when the Ohio speedster had a blowout while establishing a record of 576 miles per hour.

Arfons' record was subsequently broken by present record-holder Craig Breedlove who boosted the land speed mark to 600 miles per hour.

Arfons' car has been refashioned to give it more weight, and special instruments have been installed to measure distribution of weight on each of the wheels.

The sponsoring Firestone Rubber and Tire Company said Arfons planned to make test runs in the 400 to 500 mile per hoar range. If the car performs well at those speeds he will then try to recapture the record he has held on previous occasions.

Bill Backmann, manager of the Bonneville Speedway Assn., said Arfons has the famed course reserved for a two-week period.

GIANTS

First-baseman Willie McCovey and third baseman Jim Hart were taken out of the lineup for one game apiece during the four-game series against the Cubs. At one point, McCovey had struck out seven times in nine appearances.

Hart came back after a super slump and went three-for-six, all doubles, in the doubleheader Sunday. All either led to or produced runs.

Lead-off man Tito Fuentes has drawn only eight walks all season. Second baseman Hal Lanier is batting below .240.

And the Giants' defense leaked 10 errors in the first three games against Chicago. Meanwhile, they got eight runs in four games and 22 hits.

This is not all Franks has to concern him. His 20-game winner Gaylor Perry has been unsuccessful in his last five starts, giving up 48 hits and 23 runs in 27 1-3 innings.

After shutting out Los Angeles on three hits, Ray Sadecki reverted Sunday to early-season form and fell apart in the sixth inning of the first game of the doubleheader. He was responsible for all the Cub runs in the 4-3 Chicago victory over the Giants.

"I'm gonna have to go out and pitch me a shutout," Bob Bolin told Lindy McDaniel before the second game.

And that's what Bolin did. The Cubs got no walks and only three hits off the hard-throwing right-hander. Although the Giants got only three hits off 37-year-old southpaw Curt Simmons, they all counted toward runs as San Francisco won 2-0 over the Cubs.

Mays and Hart hit consecutive doubles for one of the runs and Bolin homered for the other.

The Giants can't expect this sort of hitting from their pitchers in every game, of course. And they know they must again turn on the power to bring a pennant to San Francisco.

Bill To Protect Prep Grid Games

WASHNIGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., introduced today a bill to permit the National and American Football Leagues to merge without the threat of antitrust action.

Ford's bill also would prohibit televising of professional football games on Friday nights after 6 p.m., to protect high school football games.

call last night with the Dodgers trailing 2-1. Perranoski struck out the first six men he faced, tying a league record for relievers, then blanked the Mets for two more innings, as Los Angeles grabbed a 3-2 lead.

When the left-hander gave up a leadoff single to Ken Boyer in the ninth, Manager Walter Alston called on Regan. The right-hander got pinch hitter Chuck Hiller to force Boyer at second, then ended the game by inducing Cleon Jones to ground into a double play.

Perranoski earned the victory, the third for Dodger relievers in the five-game winning streak that has shot the Dodgers from third place, 1½ games out, to first place, 1½ games ahead.

Los Angeles won last night with two runs in the fifth inning. With runners at first and third and one out, Tommy Davis grounded a hit-and-run single to left field. Maury Wills scored easily from third, and Willie Davis raced all the way home from first with the lead run.

CHIEFS LOOK TOUGH

Raider Coach Saw Two Games—Enjoyed Neither

OAKLAND (AP)—Head coach John Rauch, whose Oakland Raiders open their new stadium this coming Sunday, saw two football games the past weekend and enjoyed neither.

The first game the new mentor saw was in Houston where the Oilers blasted the Raiders 31-0 Saturday night, handing Oakland its first American Football League defeat this season after a single victory.

Then Rauch watched Kansas City beat defending AFL champion Buffalo 42-20 Sunday on the television set in his own home. Kansas City is the Oakland opponent this Sunday in the Oakland Coliseum Stadium.

Rauch was interviewed by phone as he watched the Western Division Chiefs take apart the Eastern Division Bills.

"Kansas City is just kicking the heck out of Buffalo," Rauch said over the phone.

He was asked whether rookie Mike Garrett was helping the Chiefs.

"Well, he just ran back a punt 79 yards for a touchdown and had another called back because of a penalty," Rauch said.

Is Garrett doing much ball carrying?

"No," replied Rauch. "But they have Bert Coan around again and he has potential."

"How's Coan doing?

"Well, he just ran for about 25 yards while you were asking that question," Rauch said, ending the interview.

Bob Brandt Top Novato Diver

Bob Brandt led the Novato Aquanauts with a fourth and fifth place in the Novato Parks and Recreation Department Diving Championships Saturday.

Brandt finished fourth in the boys' 15-17 one-meter event with 262.15 points and fifth in the men's senior one-meter division with 287.95 points.

Ed Lederman and Mike Anderson finished sixth and seventh in the boys 15-17 division with 233.95 and 231.55, respectively. Kevin Keller was sixth in the boys' 10 and under one-meter event with a 92.25 followed by Kurt Belter in eighth place at 89.50.

The Athens Athletic Club ran away with the meet, garnering 82 points to runner-up Sherman Swim School's 67 points. Novato was seventh. Jerry Adair won four events for the Rita Curtis V.A.C.

Some Profound Predictions On The N. L. Pennant Race . .

HANLEY

Some of the profound predictions being made about the outcome of the 1966 National League baseball race sound as vacuous as political promises in a cave of winds.

You never would catch Casey Stengel making the kind of statements being made about this race which, like all National League stretch runs in recent years, is a humdinger.

The Ol' Perfesser was a genius when it came to analyzing tight races. He knew better than anyone else that he couldn't predict the future so he never tried to be profound. Yet his double talk always was delightful to hear. And if you listened close enough the double talk always was loaded with wisdom, not platitudes.

BUT CASEY no longer is active on the baseball scene. He is leaving the profound stuff, as he always did, to others. And what are they saying?

"Anybody who can string five or six in a row will win it," said Leo Durocher.

Even a Little Leaguer could come up with something better than that.

DUROCHER'S PROFOUND statement might have been passable provided he let it go at that but he added: "And it might not be the best club that does it."

During the recent 1966 series finale between the Giants and Dodgers down south, Bobby Bragan, relieved of his managing duties at Atlanta, was setting up shop as a movie producer.

BRAGAN CALLED a press conference to announce his new profession, a venture into movie sports features, but, of course, he also had a few words about the pennant race.

"No club in baseball has the one-two pitching punch that the Giants have in Juan Marichal and Gaylord Perry," said Bragan.

SO WHAT happened to the one-two punch against the Cubs in Candlestick during the weekend?

Bragan didn't want to be left on the hook with an inferential prediction that the Giants were going to win it so he added: "But the Dodgers and Pirates are less apt to beat themselves than the Giants."

You must give Bragan a plus on that after those five errors by the Giants in the weekend opener with the Cubs.

STILL STENGEL, silent in retirement now, would surely have something more incisive to say about the race if he were talking. He made only one statement this year and it was a gem. Remember?

While being interviewed during blistering 106 degree heat at the All-Star game in the new ball park at St. Louis, Casey was asked what he thought of the new park and he replied:

"It holds the heat good."

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Denver Broncos Tuesday announced the club was activating two National Football League veterans.

They are John Gonzaga, a guard recently cut by the Detroit Lions, and Danny LaRose, a defensive end released by the San Francisco 49ers.

Warriors Start Work Officially

SAN JOSE (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Assn., who know each other fairly well already, went into their second day of official practice today at the San Jose City College gym.

The Warriors have been working out at least twice a week since June under owner Franklin Mieuli's new all-year policy. This new policy has brought in a new coach, Bill Sharman, who replaced Alex Hannum, now the coach at Philadelphia.

Sharman greeted 13 players yesterday, four of them rookies. Missing was Guy Rodgers, the flashy guard who was dealt to the new Chicago franchise for two players to be named later.

(Included in the Warrior's practice itinerary is an Oct. 6 intra-squad game at College of Marin, Kentfield, for the benefit of the American Cancer Society.)

Guard Joe Ellis, a 6-foot-5 outside shooter from the University of San Francisco, and 6-foot-9 Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt, drew praise from Sharman after a 90-minute workout.

Also on hand for the first day were rookies Steve Jones of Oregon and Jim Jarvis from Oregon State, newsocers Bill McGill, formerly of the Los Angeles Lakers, and Bob Warlick, formerly of Detroit.

Returning veterans were Nate Thurmond, Tom Meschery, Rick Barry, Paul Neumann, Fred Hetzel, Bud Olsen and Al Attles.

Tulsa Ties Up PCL Playoffs

SEATTLE (AP) — Tulsa pitcher Barney Schultz put down a ninth-inning Seattle rally to give the Oilers a 2-1 baseball victory last night and sent their Pacific Coast League playoff series with the Angels into a seventh game.

The game was a scoreless pitching duel for five innings between Tulsa starter Tracy Stallard and Seattle's Howie Reed, who went the distance.

But Elio Chacon hit Reed's first pitch of the sixth inning over the left field fence. Seattle tied it in the home half. Tommy Sommers led off with a single to left, took second on a bunt by Reed, advanced to third as Don Wallace grounded out and scored on Bubba Morton's single to right.

George Kenek led off the ninth with a towering wallop over the right field fence to give the Oilers what proved to be the winning run.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Weeping And Wailing By The Poor Wind-Blown Ocean Fleet

STEVENS

The fishermen's band on my Halicrafter radio Sunday produced considerable weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth as the skippers of the sport fishing salmon fleet sadly told of windy weather and rough water. Too bad, when we all know there are schools of nice big kings swimming around just waiting for a chance to do battle with the sea-sick suffering souls aboard the salmon boats.

Let the skippers and the sportsmen consider the plight of the several ships out of Monterey which drove 40 miles off shore after albacore the latter part of the week. They found the fish okay, but it was a case of hanging on with one hand and holding a rod in the other. Even Joe Wun, operator of the Castro Valley Sports Center, and an avid angler, contracted a bad case of mal de mer (but only after landing three albacore to 25 pounds), and angler Stubby Stubblefield who made the long trip only to be unable to fish account of heavy seas that tossed the boat about like a cork. Stubblefield had nary a fish to show.

ON SATURDAY, despite the very rough water, however, the salmon boats out of Caruso's Sausalito Harbor did a pretty good job. Tony Caruso called on Sunday to report good catches on Saturday. I will mention only the top four boats out of Caruso's, and here they are: The Jennie C boated 21 salmon to 40 pounds, the Sunfish had 11 to 27 pounds, the Sunrise had 8 to 24 pounds and the Sea Wolf had 10 to 40 pounds.

CARUSO REPORTED an exciting bit of news. "Hank" Schram piloted the Salmon Queen for a trial run off California City and was rewarded with 5 nice salmon to 25 pounds. In the same area the boat Sea Horse, on Saturday, boated one 18 pound striper and one salmon weighing 30 pounds.

WINDY WEATHER and rough water kept the rockfishing boat, Kihaku, in port both Saturday and Sunday.

NO QUESTION but what the annual upstream migration of salmon is on its way to the spawning grounds has begun. The Sacramento River has witnessed many catches of sizable salmon the past week, and indications are that the coming week will see much improved salmon fishing the full length of the Sacramento.

STRIPER STRIVING in the San Pablo Bay has been very slow, with catches few and far between. Sturgeon seem to be still on the bite, but nothing to brag about.

LEE ANDERSON'S of Oakland reported the Wilma H boating 11 salmon to 30 pounds, and the Sea Wolf taking 10, also to 30 pounds. All salmon boats worked close in—off Muir Beach and in that general vicinity. Both boats were chased in by bad weather and rough water.

bation in the big leagues so pampered he never even saw a minor league bus except parked at Vero, he is determined not to let a little thing like excruciating pain stop him. Sandy will never show up during the winter months with a coon dog or chewing tobacco, but he means to spend the summer jamming the bat up the ears of those who do.

Arthritis is as embarrassing as the anti-athletic image Sandy battles so violently and mocks in his book ("Give it to me straight, Doc, will I ever be able to build a glass skyscraper on Fifth Ave?"—p. 2, "Koufax" by Sandy Koufax with Ed Linn). Arthritis is a disease old ladies tell weather by. You get a twinge when it is going to rain, not when it is going to curve. But there Sandy sits with it—the richest guy in the National League. In uniform, anyway. He may be 100,000 pitches away from that last, long, final scream. Or he may be only 100 pitches.

Racing Starts At Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO (AP) — Bay Meadows opens an 83-day fall horse racing program with the $10,000-added Bay District Handicap as the feature attraction.

The first 34 days of the session belong to Tanforan, which was closed as a race track and whose racing days were then split between Bay Meadows and Golden Gate Fields.

Post time daily will be the familiar 1 p.m. But on Friday, post time will be at 2:15 p.m., a departure.

The turns on the one-mile Bay Meadows strip have been resurfaced, the jockey's room has been rebuilt, a new five-eighths training track has been constructed and improvements made on the stands.

MARIN GRID PROSPECTS

Tam Is Optimistic, Too

(Last in a series on Marin Athletic League football prospects for 1966.)

By RALPH CHATOIAN

It's the year for optimism and Tamalpais High coach Willie Hector is no exception.

If his football players have the enthusiasm he sounded yesterday, the Indians may be in the thick of the championship race this year. "We have some good, hard-hitting kids," said Hestor. "It should be a good race for the league title."

If the Indians can come up with a solid line, they will have a good shot at the title. Their two running backs from last season are here again, and they're bigger and better. Fullback Kirk Sparks is 5-11 and 185 pounds and halfback Mike Fowler is 6 feet and 193 pounds. And 185 plus 193 equals power, as any good mathematician could tell you.

"Last year we had good runners but had no passing to compliment them," said Hector. "This year it will be different."

Hector is undecided on two quarterbacks who are fighting it out for the starting role. He's got sophomore Don Mackin (6-2, 175) and senior Steve Woodward (5-1, 140). The combined experience for the two boys is two years of freshman football, but that isn't worrying Hector in the least.

Mackin had a good frosh season last year and Woodward is simply a natural athlete. After playing freshman football, he sat out the next two grid seasons, but was a star on the Tam basketball and baseball teams. "Woodward is a natural leader," said Hector.

Tam is also blessed with very capable receivers, led by split end Mike Biber, 6-2 and 182 pounds, another first stringer from the 1965 team. He's got good moves and quick hands and is rated an excellent college prospect by Hector.

Although being short on experienced linemen, Tam does have two defensive starters back this year, and they'll probably be playing both offense and defense this season. One of them is big tackle Barry Brink who stands 6-3 and weighs 235 pounds. The other is Ron Kelley, 5-11 and 205.

Steve Reiter (6-0, 155) is also a split end returning from last year's team. Defensive backs Scott Laurie and Bill Hineman are also returning lettermen. "Our defensive backfield as a whole is faster this year," said Hector.

Scott Nelson, a junior last year, was the punting specialist for the Injuns. This year he will also be used as a tight end and linebacker. He's 6-1 and 185 pounds.

From last year's junior varsity are some fine backfield men, incldng Reggie Walker, a speedster who is a quarter-miler for Tam. There's also flanker Leroy Barrow and defensive back Larry Adams, another quarter-miler who started during track and field season. Ron Blasingame will be playing fullback and linebacker. At 6-foot and 195 pounds, he's bigger than "big brother" Ken, honorable mention all-league last year.

Top prospects to fill some of the gaps in the line are center Bob Chivers, 190 pounds, and guard Rich Giessinger, 165 pounds, both up from last year's jayvee team.

The Indians open their season Friday against Riordan at Kezar Stadium, 8 p.m., and play Drake in their first league game, Saturday, Oct. 1, 1:30 p.m. at Kentfield.

"I think we'll beat quite a few people," Hector said. "We are much more ahead than we were last year at this time." And considering the Indians won their first five games of the year, that is saying something.

Tam again will be using the Pro T formation, with split end, and flanker on the other side. Last year's team, which finished the season with a very good 7-2 record (4-2 in league), was almost entirely a two platoon outfit. "This year we'll have three or four boys going both ways," Hector said.

Swim Marks May Tumble At Hamilton

National and Pacific Assn. swimming records are expected to fall this weekend when top West Coast swimmers converge on Hamilton Air Force Base to compete in a star-studded Amateur Atheltic Union (AAU) Class A meet.

Sponsored annually by the Hamilton "Voodoo" Swim Club, the two-day water show will attract prize winning teams from Los Angeles, Santa Clara, Sacramento, Stockton, Modesto and elsewhere in the Bay Area.

Events, to be held at the officers' pool, will start at 9 a.m. the first day and 9:30 Sunday.

Benefit Breakfast At Rod-Gun Club

All you can eat for $1 will be the feature of the Pancake Benefit Breakfast scheduled at Marin Rod and Gun Club, Point San Quentin next Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The public is invited and proceeds have been pledged to promote the preservation of natural resources and wildlife in Marin.

Marin Rod and Gun Club members will be on hand to serve their guests pancakes, sausages and coffee.

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 13, the 256th day of 1966 with 109 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Saturn, Jupiter, Mars and Venus. The evening star is Saturn.

Gen. J. J. Pershing was born on this day in 1860.

On this day in history:

In 1759, the British defeated the French on the Plains of Abraham overlooking the city of Quebec.

In 1788, the U. S. Congress authorized the first national election.

In 1943, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was elected president of the Chinese Nationalist government.

In 1954, Maine elected its first Democratic governor in 20 years, Edmund Muskie.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Knowing How To Sell Gold Brick Principle Of Good Bridge Play

According to the latest guidebooks you can't sell a gold brick to a Hottentot. You have to find a customer who knows the value of gold.

The sime principle applies to the kind of brick you have for sale during a game of bridge.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts and noticed that sooner or later he would have to lead a spade from his hand and guess whether to play the jack or the king from dummy.

Then South realized that the opponent at his left was a gold fancier. Perhaps he would be in the market for a nice brick.

South drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king and then led a third trump to make sure West knew all about the trumps. South then ran the four clubs to make an important discard from the dummy.

Do you mean to say that you can't see any important discard in the dummy? It's easy to see that you've never sold gold bricks.

FALSE COUNT

South discarded the three hearts from dummy. This would be useful only if South had a second heart—and this is just what South wanted West to believe.

West already knew about South's six diamonds and four clubs, and if West thought South had two hearts he would "know" that South had room in his hand for only one spade.

South waited for a few seconds to make sure that West had time to do his counting. Then South led a spade toward dummy.

West stepped right up with the ace of spades to make sure that South didn't put the ace to sleep with his "singleton" spade.

DAILY QUESTION

♠ A 9 3
♥ Q J 9 7 4
♣ 9 8 5 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two notrump, the negative response. You would bid two hearts if your suit were headed by the king rather than by the queen-jack.

A positive response to a two-bid should promise an ace and a king rather than an ace and a queen-jack. If your response suggests a slam you need quality, not just points.

"You just wanted it repainted? The order says you wanted it antiqued."

The temperature of an hermetically sealed room would actually be increased, rather than decreased, by an electric fan because of the friction developed. The cooling effect on an individual is caused, however, when air absorbs heat and moisture as it passes over a person's skin.

Borg-Warner To Double Plants

ST. LOUIS — Borg-Warner Corp. has disclosed that it is more than doubling its investment in chemical plants for a total of $111 million in facilities now operating or to come on stream in the next two years.

"We have committed some $60 million to chemical projects on top of the $51 million on the books at the end of 1965, demonstrating our confidence in the continued growth of this phase of our business," Robert S. Ingersoll, chairman and chief executive officer, told the St. Louis Society of Financial Analysts.

Borg-Warner is forecasting sales of at least $900 million for 1966, about 10 per cent ahead of the 1965 total of $815 million, and the rate for the first seven months is somewhat better than that, he said.

Bank Of America Adds In Panama

SAN FRANCISCO—The Bank of America opens its 43rd international branch in Colon, Panama.

The branch, the bank's third in Panama, will offer complete domestic and international banking services. Emphasis will be on financing canal tolls, steamship operations and entrepot activities in connection with the Canal Free Zone. The bank has two offices in Panama City.

The branch becomes the bank's seventh in Central America.

Red Trade Ban Threat To U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says the United States — and not Communist countries — are hurt by Americans opposing the sale in this country of goods imported from the Communist nations of Eastern Europe.

The department referred in a pamphlet issued Monday to "an unrealistically simple view" of U.S.-Communist relations held by those who use black lists, boycotts, threats or picketing to halt such sales.

The pamphlet noted that Communist countries are expanding their trade with nations in Western Europe and said U.S. failure to trade with the Eastern European nations means a loss of jobs and income to U.S. workers, businessmen and farmers.

Market Shuts Higher, Early Gain Canceled

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today in moderately active trading.

Volume for the day was estimated at 6.8 million shares compared with 6.78 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

The market followed through from yesterday's rally, the best since June 1965, but some gains were trimmed as profits were taken. Blue chips and glamor stocks rose together.

In late dealings aerospace issues and electronics were still well ahead but there were some casualties among the previously strong office equipments, photographic stocks and airlines. Nevertheless, strength among chemicals, farm implements, rubbers, motors, oils and rails helped support the averages.

Strength was shown also by some specially situated issues. Paramount Pictures advanced more than 3 as Gulf and Western disclosed it has bought more Paramount stock. G & W traded about unchanged.

General Electric held a 1-point gain.

Rubbers and drugs displayed an array of plus signs. Airlines were soft.

Du Pont held a gain of nearly 3 and International Telephone was ahead almost 2.

General Motors held to most of a 1-point gain late in the day and Du Pont bolstered the averages with an advance of about 3.

A good part of the best early gains was canceled.

Glamor stocks were especially hit hard by profit taking. Xerox was off about 8 points and Polaroid around 4. IBM was off 1.

New Holiday Magic Appointments; Way Out Fashions In Department

Two new management staff appointments have been announced by Zolene, Inc., San Rafael, manufacturer of the nationally distributed Holiday Magic Cosmetics.

Daniel Silverman of San Rafael is new director of advanced projects, with responsibilities for packaging and new product development. He was previously sales manager for American Printing and Lithograph Co., San Francisco, and has spent more than 25 years in printing, publishing, advertising and promotional work. It was he who originated the "Sister City" program between San Rafael and Sainte Raphael, France, working through friends made during his World War II service in Europe.

LOUIS MONTOYA, also a resident of San Rafael, has been appointed production manager. His background covers 25 years experience in plant management, manufacturing and packaging of cosmetics. Past associations include Studio Cosmetic Co., Process Chemicals Co. and most recently Stanley Drug Products, Inc., where he was in charge of operations.

ATTRACTIVE new departmental addition to the Modern Eve store in San Rafael is called the "Me Ne Shop," where all the latest "way out" fashions have been concentrated in one section.

DR. R. G. ANDERSON of Novato has been appointed supervisor, lubricating oil additives section, at the Richmond laboratory of Chevron Research Co. He has worked on lubricating oil additives since he joined the company in 1957 and has done some pioneering research work on the subject.

MRS. BETTY MALMGREN of Mill Valley has joined the sales staff of Frank Howard Allen and Co. She is one of two holders in Marin of a Certified Property Exchanger certificate and specializes in this field of real estate.

WALTER F. PATZLAFF of San Anselmo, manager of the Branham Co., San Francisco, reports that his company has been appointed national representative for the New York World Journal Tribune, which combines the former Herald-Tribune, World-Telegram and Sun and the Journal-American as an evening newspaper. Publication started yesterday.

NEXT SATURDAY AND SUNDAY, Strawberry Town and Country Village will be the setting for a preview display of several of the cars to be shown at the Peacock Gap Concours d'Elegance on Sept. 15.

Some of the vehicles at Strawberry will be a 1922 Packard, 1954 Mercedes, 1935 Auburn speedster and a 1931 Lincoln phaeton. Owners will be in costume to carry out the horseless carriage theme. Display will be at the south end of the parking lot from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days.

DR. GEORGE SUGARMAN of Tiburon, back from one project in the Bahamas relating to his executive development program in the Caribbean and Latin America, has taken off again on a tour of the West Indies.

ELEVEN MARIN COUNTY field underwriters have qualified as members of the 1966 Star Club of New York Life Insurance Co.: Jack C. Annett, Jack R. DeBruin, James F. Grant, Paul W. Heideman, John E. Morse, Rolland R. Pieper and Donald P. Sands Jr.—all of San Rafael; Rolf G. Froelich and John G. Wright of Mill Valley; James D. Neubert of Larkspur, and Bert J. Ripple of Fairfax. All are eligible to attend the company's educational conference next week at Lake Tahoe.

WEEKLY BREAKFAST MEETINGS of the Marin County Real Estate Board, resuming again tomorrow for the fall, will no longer be held at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

Arrangements have been made for them each Tuesday at 8 a.m. at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

APPARENTLY there has been a misunderstanding about Jiffy 39 Minute Cleaners scheduled for 2224 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

I am informed by T. C. Nizenkoff of Peacock Gap, vice president of the franchising firm, Garlen Co. of San Francisco, that the establishment will not be opened until a franchised owner has been obtained. Garlen Co. does not engage in the retail cleaning business, but is a supplier of cleaning equipment and supplies. The franchisee will be the sole operator of the Fourth Street facility.

Thursday Is Deadline For Vote Registration

Thursday (Sept. 15) is the last day to register to vote in the Nov. 8 election, if you are not already eligible.

If you did not vote in the last general election or have changed your name or address since you last voted, you must re-register with the county clerk.

"Unless concerned Californians act before Sept. 15, the Governor of our state will be elected by less than half the potential voters." This warning comes from Robert L. Coate, vice president of the California Non-Partisan Voter Registration Committee, Inc.

"Only 68 per cent of the potential 11,400,000 eligible California voters are registered to vote in November," says Coate.

"Of these, an estimated 78 per cent will actually cast their ballots.

"This means that fewer than half of the potential voters will decide who shall be Governor; will decide the many propositions on the state ballot, and will elect members of Congress and the State Legislature."

Up to last month, an estimated four million Californians, who were otherwise eligible, had not been properly registered.

Consider the potential of four million, or even one million, "lost" votes when many elections are decided by a margin of a few hundred or a few thousand votes.

In 1960, John F. Kennedy's national plurality was less than one vote per precinct. He defeated Richard M. Nixon by less than 120,000 votes out of almost 69 million cast.

In 1962, the Governor of Maine was elected by a margin of only 483; the Governor of Rhode Island by 398; and the Governor of Minnesota by the hairline margin of 91 votes.

One "lost" vote in each precinct in Marin could mean the defeat or victory of a gubernatorial candidate or state legislator.

The United States, the leader of the free world which is trying to impress other countries with the importance of the individual vote, lags behind many other free countries in voter participation.

The U.S. should be setting an example for the rest of the world. And California, as the leading state of the Union, should be setting an example for the rest of the states.

You can do your part by making sure you will have a voice on Nov. 8.

'BUT—HE'S LOST HIS LIBERAL IDENTITY'

JAMES MARLOW

Johnson's Two Themes . . . War, Ticklish Question Of Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, campaigning for the Democrats like a man running for his own re-election, already has laid out the two themes he will hit hardest in this congressional election season.

Both were obvious before he began—the war in Viet Nam and the national economy — since they are the two problems uppermost in the public mind.

BUT IT IS the energy he has displayed so far — in spinning around the country, in the number of speeches he has made and the number of places he has visited, and the endless handshaking — that is impressive.

But there is also an obvious reason for the energy, besides his party loyalty.

If he hopes to be chosen for a second term in 1968, his foundation stone will be the number and the scope of his programs he can get through Congress between now and then.

THE MORE Democrats he has in Congress to help him, the better his chances. So his whirlwind politicking so far this year, and for the rest of it, will have the long-range effect of campaigning for himself two years ahead of time.

In the House, where all 435 seats are at stake, the count now is 294 Democrats to 139 Republicans, with one vacancy in each party. That huge majority, if it can be retained, is Johnson's best hope for the future.

Publicly, Republicans have been forecasting a gain this year of 40 or more seats. They used to talk of a gain of 30 but have worked their way up. But what they say in public is not necessarily what some of the best informed among them say in private. They're reluctant to be that optimistic.

IN THE SENATE, Democrats outnumber Republicans, 67 to 33, with 35 seats at stake in the election. In the Senate there may not be a shift of more than two seats in either direction.

But for Johnson — and no President has ever paid closer attention to what every member of Congress did, does or is likely to do — every vote counts.

This explains the energy, the trips, the handshaking. But getting out among the crowds, and being applauded, is probably a therapeutic reassurance to Johnson's ego, since opinion polls have shown him dropping in public approval.

WHAT HE SAYS on Viet Nam has not varied very much and probably will not unless there is an unforeseen change. It can be stated briefly.

This country is in Viet Nam to stop Communist aggression against a neighbor and this country will stay there until the Reds give up trying to overwhelm their neighbor.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Housing Projects Do Cost Taxpayer

Editor, Independent-Journal:

. . . Who said housing projects in Marin cost the taxpayer's nothing and these projects in 40 years will belong to the county? If this is the case our county tax rolls, county employees, and our county budget have been feeding me the wrong information.

The Housing Authority does not appear on our county budget as a county department — but they do appear in places where they receive money from our county counsel. But they do have two attorneys handling condemnation and legal matters—one for Housing Authority and one for Redevelopment Agency.

The Housing Authority has their own budget, but they refused to let me see it. They have their own meetings, but some have been closed ones. They have their own minutes and until recently, they have refused to let me see them. Never have I had this kind of treatment from our Marin County government. . . .

The Housing Authority minutes show they are contemplating selling the Hilarita housing in Tiburon. For 23 years this project has been non-taxable — certainly 23 years ago this land was purchased very cheap—but is it now too expensive for low rent housing for elderly. Our tax rolls show the assessed valuation at over $100,000—market value would be over $500,000. Since this land meets all their requirements should the Housing Authority be allowed to sell this 7 or 8-acre site and then be allowed to invade R-1 areas throughout the county.

If the Housing Authority is allowed privileges private developers only 15 months ago have been denied, then I feel our planning department budget of over $300,000 for this year is far too much to be spending for inconsistent decisions in planning. What do we want with another Dolan's corner?

The Hilarita project is a beautiful site and is only one-half mile from town. This site would take care of all 200 units with land to spare for a nice park. Our ballots in 1964 said project or projects, it said nothing about having to be scattered throughout the county. . . .

$3,000 Realized From All-Stars

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It gives me a great deal of pleasure, on behalf of the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club, to express our thanks and appreciation for the coverage and publicity that the I-J gave to us for our Second Annual North-South All Star Football Game on Aug. 25.

The game was a tremendous success, both financially and spectatorwise. There is no doubt that this could not have been accomplished without the help and interest of your sports staff, Jim Gilmartin, Ralph Chatoian and Rob Harvey. Their time, the time of the photographers and the space given to us was the most effective way in which we were able to reach the public.

We also wish to thank the various organizations and business firms who gave so generously of their time and efforts to help us in selling tickets.

Incidentiy, we also wish to express our appreciation and compliments to the nearly 8,500 people who attended the game. We wish to express our compliments to them on their behavior, as there was not one incident at the game. If it were not for their support, we would not have been successful.

It seems that our net receipts will be in the neighborhood of $3,000. This money will be used to help worthy students continue their education at college, send underprivileged children to summer and bible camps, help needy families, support conservation, churches, public and business affairs and other worthwhile community projects.

The I-J can be proud that they contributed so much to help make this worthwhile event an annual affair. The highest compliment paid to us was when one of the staff writers from the I-J, approached a Kiwanian, after the game, and thanked US for sponsoring the game.

Thanks to each and every one of you who helped make this game a success, and this includes 46 young men, who worked and practiced hard to play a thrilling football game. Finally, thanks to all of the participants in the pagent.

Football Game Chairman

Violin Teaching Quality Scorned

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your report in Sept. 9 issue of I-J on scholarships given by Marin Music Chest to five Marin musicians is quite significant. The winners were two pianists, one soprano, one cellist and one clarinetist.

Not one violinist among 21 competitors was good enough to receive the scholarship award. The reason is obvious: the students in Marin are receiving incompetent violin instruction or none at all. They are just not good enough to perform in public.

This vindicates my criticism of the sour performance of Marin Youth Symphony on May 1. Students think that by attending orchestra rehearsals they are getting sufficient instruction and the parents just do not know any better. The truth is that unless students get individual private instruction with competent teachers — not just symphony orchestra players — the standard of performance must suffer . . . Orchestra rehearsals and performances are only the by-product of individual studies and in many communities and school districts only students who study privately with recognized violin teachers are accepted into the symphony orchestras. This procedure is highly recommended to Marin Youth Symphony, which will then, and only then, become worthy of the name "symphony" whose performances can match such Youth Symphonies as Idylwild or California Youth Symphony.

Italian Paper Gives DeGaulle The Needle

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Corriere della Sera of Milan, largest and most prestigious Italian newspaper, published a 12-page supplement on France that is reverberating around the world.

Despite the fact that prominent French auto, cosmetics, fashion, wine and other concerns ran big ads in the special edition, its lead article was a scathing attack on De Gaullist France and its concepts, policies and deeds. The Corriere laid it on the line in unsparing terms — much to the outrage of De Gaullist officialdom and astonished French advertisers, but greatly to the glee of NATO and other chancellories around the world.

Following are highlights of this bullseye excoriation:

"RARELY IN HISTORY has a country renounced its own life in order to live the life of an old man as France has done. The fact is that it is De Gaulle's old age, rather than any 'genius' he might possess —the French are the first to admit that he does not possess much — that has made his countrymen bow before his wishes. It has made them reluctant to be 'disrespectful.'

"Under these conditions, France, sweet and marvelous France, gives one the impression of a nation paralyzed. Ruled despotically — despotically in substance, if not in form — by an official who has more than passed the limits of old age and who has had the great good fortune to consume his reserve officer's pension while acting as the head of the State, France seems to be immersed in an atmosphere of 'remembrance of things past' that is as pathetic as it is harmful for itself, for Europe and for the evolution of history as a whole."

"What, in fact, is the France of today? We begin by saying categorically that it is no longer the 'mirror of the world,' that is, that it no longer reflects in universal terms some of the fundamental conditions of man of society.

"FRANCE IS NO longer the mirror of freedom for the rest of the world. It is no longer the mirror of democracy, of intelligence, of art, of taste, of literature, of military glory. It no longer sets the pace of theater or of fashion for the world, nor even that of anti-conformism, frivolity or illicit mores. In a word, France is no longer the testing ground for humanity that it was until the outbreak of the First World War and that it claimed to be until the end of the Second.

"The facts prove that France is no longer a great power . . . France is rebelling, a little absurdly it must be said, against the idea of being small. And while it has already accepted China and India as 'great powers,' even though these large countries can hardly become qualitatively great within the next few years, it furiously rejects the prospect of a United Europe that could become a great power equal both quantitatively and qualitatively to the United States and the Soviet Union within a period of twenty-four hours.

"FRENCH TASTE has also fallen behind the times . . . From architecture to bookshelf design, from army uniforms to movie sets, from office furnishings for insurance firms to interiors of airports and jet airliners, from popular songs and gas stations to highway design and the latest dances, France — and, indeed, all of Europe — no longer sets the pace for the world.

"On the one hand hardly aware of it and on the other hand acknowledging it with genuine horror, France is in the process of submitting to something it detests with all its proud soul: American taste. It is a taste which all the countries of the world today are adopting, be they overdeveloped or underdeveloped, capitalist or Marxist."

WE PREDICT — The Senate Ethics Committee will hold no more public hearings in its probe of Senator Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., before the November election. Neither will the committee issue an interim report on its inquiry so far — on Dodd's relations with a Chicago lobbyist. Staff investigators are digging into Dodd's financial affairs, but the civil rights filibuster and electioneering demands are barring public hearings and a report.

The Johnson Administration will dish out more economic aid, in the form of surplus grain and other food, to Egypt's dictator Nasser after the November balloting. Such assistance was shut off in June.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

ONE WAY TO ENRICH YOUR LIFE

Do you want to lead a fuller life in a world beset by mounting problems?

A simple but effective program for physical, intellectual and moral health was proposed by Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart specialist.

The formula included a daily hike of four miles, a balanced diet (on the side of frugality) and participation in at least one community activity.

He also suggested jotting down thoughts for use as guideposts for reflection in quiet moments.

Dr. White said that there have been greater changes in man's way of life in the past 80 years than in all the centuries that had gone before.

Of all God's creatures, man has the greatest facility to adapt to new conditions. But he must take the basic steps needed to achieve a balanced existence.

Show reasonable care of your own requirements and an outgoing concern for those less well off. Then you will reap dividends for this life and the next.

"So speak and so act as those who are to be judged under the law of liberty."

Candidates Discuss Tax Relief, But It's All Talk And No Action

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Both Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Ronald Reagan, opposing candidates for the governorship of California, have started talking about taxes, and relief of property taxes in various forms.

Governor Brown suggests that the state might pick up half a billion dollars from the federal government which could be used in California for relief on property taxes.

This is a somewhat fantastic idea, even in a campaign year, and apparently is being presented with the idea of convincing voters that the governor is trying to do something about tax relief.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, if the federal government did raise taxes to the point where it obtained an additional $50 billion, which would be necessary if California received a half billion as its 10 per cent share, there is no doubt the federal government would have plenty of places to put the funds raised as a result of the tax increase.

In the second place, little relief would be effected as far as property owners are concerned, for the simple reason they would be paying added taxes to the federal government, instead of paying to the state or to local governments. The result would be a mere shuffling of collections with the taxpayers paying the same or even more taxes to satisfy the growing demands for government spending.

WHILE THE governor seeks a mythical half billion from the federal government, Reagan points out that the California tax structure is complicated, antiquated and maladjusted.

This no doubt is true, and has been known to be true for a good many years, but nothing constructive, outside of studies, has been done to correct the antiquations. It is also a well known fact that no governor can through his own efforts revise the tax system of the state, as this must be done by the State Legislature.

It is true that a governor can offer a tax structure revision program, and promote its adoption, but the final action must come from the State Legislature.

CONSEQUENTLY, it would appear that both candidates are discussing taxes for political purposes, rather than for actual revisions which might relieve some of the burden on the California taxpayer.

It is somewhat more than curious that neither candidate has come up with plans or promises to reduce government spending, which in the final analysis, is the only method whereby relief to the taxpayer can be effected. The slogan appears to be in government to spend more on bureaucracy, rather than attempt to cut down.

THE HARD FACT of the matter is that no matter who gets elected governor of California, the year 1967 will undoubtedly be a year of crisis for the taxpayer. The state government even now faces a deficit of about a quarter of a billion dollars. The gimmicks for balancing the state budget have about run out, and even Governor Brown admits that next year the Legislature will face requests for tax increases to make up the deficit.

All of which means the campaign material consists of little more the words, not real action to cut down the tax burden.

BEING UNQUESTIONABLY the greatest harmonica virtuoso in the world isn't all it's cracked up to be, complains Larry Adler — because, after all, how many famous harmonica players are there, anyhow? Besides a good harmonica only lasts for about two weeks—the way Adler plays one. In his early days as a pro, he used all kinds of tricks with his body and hands to dazzle his audience, but stopped all that when Jascha Heifetz demanded, "What's the matter, Larry? Don't you have confidence in your music?" Now he just plays that harmonica — and how!

ADLER ONCE beseeched Aaron Copland to compose a concerto for harmonicas, but was repulsed. "My dear boy," sniffed Copland, "who else would play it?"

A YOUNG man-about-town phoned a photogenic starlet and her mother answered the phone. "Barbara doesn't live here any more," reported the mother, "and I haven't the faintest idea where you can reach her—unless you're a producer or a director."

FROM THE musings of poet-critic John Ciardi:

1. Modern art is what happens when painters stop looking at girls and persuade themselves they have a better idea.

2. A neighborhood is a residential area that is changing for the worse.

3. New York City is the shrine to which the lords of capitalism commute in cattle cars.

4. A boy is a hurry on its way to doing nothing.

5. A modern publishing house is a corporation designed to produce one idea a generation and 200 books a year, not necessarily in that order. (Oh, pooh to you, Mr. Ciardi!)

Despite Police Blotter, Novato Kids Better Than Average Bunch

Independent - Journal sports editor Jim Gilmartin in his column last week was wondering where Novato youth gets its prowess in athletics. He claimed that Novato was walking away with more than its share of athletic honors. He even suggested that it was something that the kids were fed.

We know that this couldn't be the answer because the same supermarkets service the entire area.

We suggest that he could find the answer if he walked around Novato High School campus. He'd have to go a long ways on this earth to find a better looking bunch of clean cut kids. We know that we are speaking in generalities and as such, are open to finding all sorts of exceptions to what we said.

COVERING THE police blotter as we do, we admit that some of the young people in Novato do not fit into that description. Watching some of them squirrel around in their cars, they too should be left out. But by and large, Novato High School has as good a set of young people as you can find anywhere.

Robert Wisgerhof, principal of the high school, has told me more than once that he gets the same impression. He has been a teacher and principal elsewhere, so he has a good sound background for his judgment.

"Sometimes during the lunch periods, I just walk around looking at the students and admiring them. I never before have seen such a preponderance of good looking, well mannered kids," he has said time and time again.

HE ADMITS that he has had a little trouble in the past with long hair on the boys, but he has held fast to the rule of no outlandish hair style or extreme clothes for both boys and girls. He made one concession. He allowed the boys to show off their masculinity in growing beards for the Western Weekend beard contest.

If all of American high schools had as good a group as the 2,000 students at Novato High School, no one need worry about the moral and political future of America.

Along the same line, the residents of Novato are being thanked collectively and individually for their hospitality to the teams and players that were here during the Little League district playoffs last month. The Novato Chamber of Commerce and some individuals have received very gracious letters thanking them for their excellent treatment during the tournament.

IT'S AT THIS time of year when one can really see the days begin to shorten. During the summer days, they were so long that one didn't notice the difference each day. However, from now until Christmas, when they start to lengthen again, each day is noticably shorter than the other.

The nights are getting colder and there is a very definite feel of fall in the air. That brings a word of caution from Capt. Richard W. Beyer of the Novato Fire Department to check heaters and furnaces before starting them in the fall.

He says that all should be cleaned and be free of lint, dust and paper scraps. Chimneys should be inspected. If it is a forced air type of heater, the fan belt should be checked for its condition and be properly adjusted. Filters should be cleaned, and fan and motor bearings serviced.

After all of that has been done, light the appliance and watch the flame. It should burn blue and not yellow. If it is not acting properly, call in an expert.

If all of this does not work, remember that the Novato Fire Department now has three stations to serve the area better.

MORRIE RYSKIND

Plight Of Columnist Not Easy With All That Criticism

Even in the decorous Eighties, W. S. Gilbert observed that "a policeman's lot is not a happy one." And the sad plight of the constabulary has definitely worsened in an era when it faces not only daily demonstrations, but thugs armed with a deadly weapon and an even more deadly Supreme Court ruling.

NEVERTHELESS, the lot of a commentator who swims against the collectivist tide is not precisely a bed of roses. Your social life narrows as old friends drop you. You don't go to first nights because that's when the "in" group shows up en masse—and you're definitely "out."

And then there's the mail, which you learn to open gingerly and do not venture to read till you've buckled your seat-belt and donned a gas-mask. It is considerable, but that is no sign of popularity. It merely affirms that you are under constant surveillance and that every word of every column of yours has been subjected to minute scrutiny for possible criminal intent.

AND, BOY, what a case the prosecution makes! If I am ever hauled before the United Nations on the charge of genocide, I doubt even Perry Mason could get me off.

For example, some time ago I used the adjective "pharisaical" in its generally accepted meaning of "self-righteously hypocritical." So my dictionary defines it, and cites such usage by writers from Bacon to Macaulay.

So what happened? Immediately several critics, including a rabbi, wrote me indignantly that the Pharisees were a noble sect who had been maliciously maligned; and that I, as a Jew, should be ashamed of myself for having ocntributed to anti-Semitism by employing the adjective as one of derogation.

EVER SINCE, I try to remember and use Uriah Heep instead. Uriah was a WASP (white, Anglo-Saxon, Protestant) and that group rarely complains.

I used the phrase "both colored and white," and some Negroes wrote to ask why "colored," a weak, non-descriptive word, instead of the direct and antithetical "black." They are proud, they say, of being black and resent being patronized.

Still another, a member of "US," objected to both "colored" and "Negro." The latter, he said, was a term applied to his race by slaveholders, and is not acceptable to any but Uncle Toms. He'd thank me to refer to his people as Afro-Americans.

And, as if that weren't enough, an obvious paleface demanded to know why I capitalized "Negro" but not "white." Had I been bought by CORE?

YES, BUT NOT by CORE alone. I'm a double-agent and work both sides of the street. Thus, in a recent piece I devoted three paragraphs to the much-publicized colloquy between Sen. Robert Kennedy and Mayor Yorty of Los Angeles.

And here's a protest from C. Etenburn of Laguna Hills, Calif.: "Sen. Ribicoff said a great deal more to Yorty, but you didn't mention him. Could it be bias on your part?"

I suppose I could say that Mayor Yorty, interviewed the following day, made it clear he regarded the attack as inspired by New York's junior Senator, and Abe Ribicoff only as a loyal follower. And that when your space is limited to three paragraphs in a piece that cannot run over 750 words, you necessarily concentrate on the more newsworthy head of the mob rather than his henchmen.

BUT THAT would be the simple truth—and that's no answer. So I'll give the reason my reader is after and admit I am biased. After all, Ribicoff is a co-religionist and I prefer not to mention his flagrant demagoguery in this case; whereas Bobby Kennedy is Catholic and can shift for himself.

"Biased" may be the wrong word, Mr. Etenburn. How about "bigoted," which has even stronger implications?

Mrs. Rohman Wins Home Work Permit

Edith V. Rohmann, who recently closed her beauty shop in the business district of Point Reyes Station, yesterday won the right to continue operating on a part-time basis at her home on Silver Hills Road there.

Both Zoning Administrator Thomas Cordill and Planning Director Paul Zucker came to the defense of the 60-year-old beautician, who said she would serve only her old customers and would not advertise or solicit for new business.

Zucker said he feels Mrs. Rohmann's proposal fits in with the home occupation category, although the county planning commission in 1957 adopted the policy that a beauty parlor is not a home occupation.

The commission approved a three-year permit for Mrs. Rohmann, with an annual review by the zoning administrator.

349th Winds Up 'Combat Leave'

Airlift of servicemen en route to or from duty in Southeast Asia by the Air Force reserves, called "Combat Leave," ended Saturday.

The 349th Military Airlift Wing, headquartered at Hamilton Air Force Base, flew 263 missions, transporting more than 8,500 passengers in their C-124 Globemaster and C-19 Flying Boxcars. The 938th Military Airlift Group at Hamilton flew 34 missions to help stranded service personnel.

The airlift was requested on July 10 by President Johnson to transport servicemen stranded by the national airlines strike.
